Formal Protest To Be Lodged With Italy On Dessye Hospital Attack

Seventh Day Adventists Also Consider Making Formal Protest To Italy

(International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 6—The Ethiopian government is preparing a strong protest to the League of Nations against the wrecking of the American hospital at Dessye when the city was bombarded by Italian war planes today.

The Ethiopian government's protest, International News Service learned ,will point out that the hospital building was marked clearly with a large Red Cross easily visible from the air.

At the same time, it was learned semi-officially nine Italian planes yesterday evening bombarded Gondar, north of Lake Tsana, source of the Blue Nile and vital to Britain's irrigation schemes in Egypt.

It was stated the Italian planes dropped a great number of bombs on the entire town. Casualties were not known but were considered large.

Fifth Ward Election Board Issues Denial Of Any Wrong Doing

Members Declare Board Desires Thorough Probe Of Developments

Issue Statement Asking Public Withhold Judgment At Present

Vigorously denying any wrong doing or any thought of wrong doing in the counting of election ballots, the election board of the first precinct of the fifth ward today urged a thorough investigation of the wide discrepancies between the count as first reported and the recount made by the court.

The recount arose through the petition of three voters to open the ballot box of the first precinct of the fifth ward, in which it was alleged that substantial error was felt to exist. The recount was made and a wide variance found between the two counts. The results in one office, that of alderman in the fifth ward, were changed by 200 votes and if permitted to stand would account for the election of Richard R. Lewis as alderman instead of Samuel Bassano, who was first certified. No other office would be affected as to result but the number of votes was changed in many.

A contest was immediately entered by Alderman Lewis and a petition presented asking that the certification of Samuel Bassano be held up until the contest could be determined. In the meantime the boxes of the second and third precincts are to be counted.

The statement of the election board of the first precinct of the fifth ward, concerning the discrepancy in the vote on November 5 follows:

Nine-Power Treaty Done; Japan's Idea

Japan Makes Bid For New Treaty As Result Of U. S. Note

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Dec. 6.—Japan today made a bid for a new treaty in reply to America's warning that all signatories of the nine-power pact have equal rights in China.

Repudiating the nine-power treaty as "outmoded" and inferentially proclaiming special Japanese rights in China, the foreign office spokesman indicated that Secretary Hull's appeal for respect for treaties and Britain's "anxiety" over developments in China would not alter Japan's policy.

"The nine-power treaty since its inception contained provisions that were not applicable in China or acceptable to China," said the spokesman.

"Certain other sections have been rendered inactive.

"There should, therefore, be a new treaty, which must contain certain Japanese stipulations and reservations."

The nine-power treaty, drafted at Washington in 1922, agreed to respect the sovereignty of China and protect equal opportunities of the signatories there.

No provisions was made for denouncing the treaty, as was included in the naval limitations pact, concluded at the same conference.

Police May Put Stop To Coasting On Streets

Mayor Charles B. Mayne and Police Chief John F. Haven today stated that unless sledriders act differently than they have during the past several nights ashes may be placed on streets now used for sledriding.

The chief of police said that at Albert street and Sheridan, and also in Delaware avenue, sledriders have crowded into the cartway and forced autoists to bring their cars to a stop.

Despite the admonition of police and drivers that sledriders do not attach sleds to rear bumpers, boys have persisted in doing so, it is reported.

The chief also stated that police put out 11 lanterns as warning signals and boys are alleged to have either taken or destroyed eight of the 11 lanterns.

Recover Bulbs Removed From Trees On Streets

Two Women Jailed For Pilfering Bulbs From Street Decorations

When Mayor Charles B. Mayne held police court today an elderly woman and a young woman faced him on a charge of suspicion, it being alleged by the arresting officers they had stolen about two dozen bulbs from the Christmas trees along different downtown streets. The bulbs were in a bag carried by one of the women. Mayor Mayne discharged them.

Before he set them free he told them that had the pilfering been done by young men their actions would have resulted in a 60 days visit at the Allegheny county workhouse.

The mayor made it plain that his action in setting the women free this morning might not be repeated if any more bulbs are stolen.

Holiday Shopping Gains Momentum

Merchants Report Business Shows Steady Increase This Holiday Season

The tune is "Happy Days Are Here Again" and the singers are the merchants of the city. Not as lusty a chorus as the days of 1928 or 1929 perhaps, but with fifteen shopping days left the indications point to a banner business.

Lay aways are heavy, one store reporting a huge supply of toys already laid away for delivery. All stores report increased business and with Christmas shopping going into the last quarter it looks good for a lot of cash register symphonies between now and Christmas Eve.

And just in passing, if you don't get your shopping started soon, you may have difficulty getting what you want.

Careers End For Bank Robbers At Wadestown, W. Va.

Young Men Planned To Out-Do Jesse James, But Bullets Change Plans

(International News Service)

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Dec. 6.—They had plans for blazing a trail of crime which would out-do Jesse James, but today Howard Hayes, 23, of Mannington, lay dead, and his companion, Roy Taylor, 35, also of Mannington, was in a critical condition, their careers abruptly ended by bullets from state troopers' guns as they attempted to loot the bank of Wadestown.

The men, it was learned, intended to purchase machine guns and ammunition with the money obtained at Wadestown to start on a career of bank robbing.

State police also held Howard Wise, 35, and C. S. "Jockey" Shriver, 30, for questioning.

Detective Parker Is Not Convinced Bruno Is Guilty

Governor Of New Jersey Reveals Fact At Trenton This Morning

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 6.—Ellis H. Parker, famous chief of detectives of Burlington county, is "personally convinced" that Bruno Richard Hauptmann did not kidnap or murder Baby Lindbergh, Gov. Harold G. Hoffman revealed today.

The governor disclosed that Parker has been working secretly on the case for a long time, beginning his investigation at the request of United States Senator A. Harry Moore, who was governor when the "crime of the century" was committed in 1932.

No Whitewash Effort

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 6.—Governor Harold Hoffman did not visit Bruno Richard Hauptmann in his death house cell in any effort to "whitewash" the Bronx carpenter.

Instead his dramatic interview with the dour German was part of a final move by the state of New Jersey to establish once and for all that the doomed slayer of the Lindbergh baby was not the victim of a miscarriage of justice.

This was the view taken in official circles close to the governor's office today.

Because of the international interest in the Lindbergh kidnaping and murder, it was pointed out, official New Jersey views with horror the barest possibility that Hauptmann after going to his death in the electric chair, might be proven an innocent, or even partly innocent man.

ROTARIANS WIN OVER BUTLER IN HEATED CONTEST

New Castle's Rotarians, sometime in January will take dinner at the expense of the Butler Rotarians—they outscored, by an infinitesimal margin, the neighbor city club in their spirited October-November attendance contest.

New Castle's record stood at 95:963 percent today and Butler's stood at 95.578 percent. The contest officially ended Monday.

So close was the race that had another local Rotarian missed one meeting, New Castle would have lost.

Sixty-three New Castle members of the 77 now in the club had a perfect attendance during the two months, Albert B. Street, attendance committee chairman of the club, announced today. With him on the committee are E. E. Seavy and Dr. W. L. Campbell.

DESSYE, Ethiopia, Dec. 6.—Ten Italian planes roared over Dessye in a surprise raid between eight and nine o'clock this morning and dropped scores of incendiary and high explosive bombs, killing and wounding an undetermined number and virtually levelling the city, headquarters for Emperor Haile Selassie and his northern armies.

Upw of 100 were estimated to have been killed and wounded in the sudden bombardment, including Americans and Europeans.

Bombs were rained ruthlessly upon the American Seventh Day Adventist hospital.

The emperor himself narrowly escaped death when his palace was damaged by the bombardment.

REV. DUFF SENT TO DESSYE IN RECENT CHANGE

Dessye, the town in Ethiopia that was razed by Italian bombers this morning, is the town to which Rev. Clarence W. Duff, of North Beaver township, missionary in Ethiopia, was recently assigned. No information has been received here as to whether or not he had reached the new field as yet.

The army encampment was destroyed as the Italian flyers apparently scored hits on all their objectives.

Dessye's flimsy buildings were eaten up by flames which spread rapidly in the wake of the incendiary bombs.

Prepare To Take Business Census In This District

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 6—A staff consisting of a supervisor, 55 enumerators and a half dozen or more clerical workers will soon be named to conduct the 1936 census of business in the 26th Pennsylvania district, comprising Lawrence, Butler and Beaver counties.

New Castle Headquarters

Headquarters of the district will be at New Castle. Here the supervisor will have his office and clerical aides. He will have as field assistants 55 enumerators, of which 24 will operate in Beaver county, 16 in Lawrence county and 15 in Butler county.

The census of business will commence next January second, according to Secretary of Commerce Roper. Enumerators will seek to collect complete and up-to-date data concerning business in the three counties. This will be compiled by the supervisor and forwarded to Washington.

To Be Comprehensive

"The census of business will be the most comprehensive yet undertaken," explains Secretary Roper. "It will provide a complete enumeration of types and kinds of business on an establishment basis. The scope includes: retail trade, wholesale trade: hotels; insurance brokers or agents; distribution of manufacturer's sales construction; trucking and warehousing; banking; bus transportation; operation of non-residential buildings; broadcasting and advertising agencies.

All information will be regarded as confidential Mr. Roper promises.

Sales Tax Hint Comes From Warm Springs As President Talks Finances

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Dec. 6.—New revenue legislation hung tentatively over the tax burdened American public today because of the Roosevelt administration's doubts about the soldiers' bonus and the AAA farm program.

A definite trial balloon had gone up from President Roosevelt's cottage here at Warm Springs warning that a manufacturers' sales tax was "very close" to enactment if the supreme court outlaws AAA processing taxes and congress passes the bonus.

Bonus payment at this time would stand the federal treasury about two billion dollars. The processing tax, which takes care of controlled crop production, runs around $400,000,000 a year.

Sales Tax Close

Senator Walter F. George (D), of Georgia, chairman of the senate finance committee, who expressed the opinion a sales tax was "very close" should the supreme court outlaw the AAA, revealed that latest estimates placed before his committee indicated such a levy—at the rate of 2½ or 3 per cent—would raise about two billion dollars annually.

George and the junior Georgia Senator, Richard B. Russell, conferred with the president yesterday. They agreed that whatever problems were placed before congress it should adjourn not later than April 15.

But a distinct impression was left that Mr. Roosevelt regarded an important part of his program "in the laps of the gods." This referred not only to the controversial administration issues pending before the supreme court—AAA, TVA, and Guffey coal act and the Bankhead cotton act—but the most definite threat the next congress will over-

HEAVY GUARD FOR STEAMER

New York Police Hear Plot Rumor

Heavily Armed Details Of Officers In Convoy For Liner Bremen

UNUSUAL SCENE IN NEW YORK HARBOR

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—In order to forestall a possible bomb plot, a half dozen police launches and coast guard ships, armed with machine guns, steamed by the side of the North German Lloyd Liner Bremen as she proceeded from quarantine to her Hudson River pier early today.

The scene was an unprecedented one in New York Harbor, the police and coast guard ships providing what almost amounted to a wartime convoy for the huge liner.

The ship lifted anchor at quarantine shortly after 7 a. m.

At the North German Lloyd Docks at the foot of West Forty-Sixth St., several hundred policemen with drawn guns and special company guards stood ready for any emergency.

Order Convoy

As soon as they received the tip the police ordered convoys for the liner, which is bringing in $20,000,000 in gold and many notables, including Pridi Banomyong, Siamese minister to Washington; Augustine La Gorrota, president of the National Bank, of Mexico, and Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn of New York.

Two police launches were sent to the liner and at the same time the coast guard harbor tugboat, Calumet, the cutter Icarus, and the smaller coast guard boats, were dispatched from their base. All of the convoys, it was said, were heavily armed.

These ships were to remain with the Bremen until she was safely berthed while heavy police details were assigned to stand guard on the dock and prevent all suspicious looking characters from approaching the vessel or its passengers.

One high police official said he understood a friend of some one connected with the line had overheard the plot at an alleged communist meeting.

The Bremen figured in an international incident last July when a group of alleged radicals boarded the ship before its departure and tore down the Nazi swastika flag.

Docks Without Incident

New York, Dec. 6—The North German Lloyd Liner Bremen, escorted by an armed convoy of five vessels through the New York harbor, docked without incident today despite advance warnings of a communist bomb plot.

A force of 60 police, augmented by 75 special officers, turned the pier into a fortress as the giant liner was warped into her berth. There were 627 passengers, including 281 Americans, aboard.

Three police launches and two coast guard vessels convoyed the Bremen up the harbor.

Tips that communists planned to blow up the Bremen in the harbor were believed based on statements attributed to Louis Weickum, publicity representative for the line, that a mysterious airplane cruised over the Europa sister ship of the Bremen, and apparently fired several shots near quarantine several weeks ago.

Commodore Leopold Ziegenbeim of the Bremen professed ignorance of the bombing scare, although he recalled that communist riots aboard the vessel last July delayed her sailing for several hours.

Mayor Mayne and the chief agreed that the Parent-Teachers associations, who sponsored the sledriding and closing of certain streets, should assist the authorities.

They also stated that parents should instruct their children that if they wish to sledride in streets protected as much as possible they should help the authorities and frown on others who attach sleds to cars and take or destroy lanterns.

Why wouldn't it be an idea to provide some sort of shelter on the public square for patrons of the busses, who have to wait for their bus to arrive or depart?

On some of the streets used by coasters, the privilege is being much abused by the sled-riders, Pa Newc is informed.

Wouldn't it be great sport to hop into an old-fashioned sleigh and with the bells jingling merrily, take a spin around the city, some of these frosty days. Oh, Yeah! Try and find a sleigh.

Hunters are still returning with big game, and in today's list is the eight-point buck bagged by P. S. Blackford of Kenneth avenue. He was accompanied by his son Tom Blackford on the trip to Pond-Lick camp in the Allegheny mountains, Center county, where the buck was killed. During the first three days in camp, the ten men had gotten their limit. Bears were seen in that section, however the season for killing them was not in during the time they spent there.

ride a presidential veto to pass the soldiers' bonus.

Should the "laps of the gods" hold adverse decisions, the president, it was predicted, will follow each reverse from the supreme court with a special message to congress suggesting ways out. Senator George pointed out that the executive could hardly present a full legislative program to congress at its opening because of the uncertainties still reposing with the supreme court—and congress itself so far as the bonus is concerned.

Speculation On Stand

There was considerable speculation here, however, among observers who recalled Mr. Roosevelt's stand on a sales tax back in early 1933 when he was still president-elect. Former President Hoover suggested a manufacturers' sales tax but Mr. Roosevelt's public objections went far to defeat it.

On the other side of the balance sheet, big business can get some encouragement from Senator George's prediction last year's wealth-tax bill would be revised next session with particular emphasis on correcting injustices which Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau himself has decided accrue from the workings of the graduated corporation tax.

New neutrality legislation giving the president more discretion in the grim business of denying exports to nations at war will be a big feature of the administration legislative program, so far as Mr. Roosevelt is concerned.

The budget and a few other incidental measures will wind up White House recommendations—except as the supreme court may upset the apple cart.

Charges Hurled

New York, Dec. 6.—Investigation of patent laws by the House committee on patents was resumed today following a turbulent session, at which it was charged that Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, had been hired by a powerful aviation lobby which dictated to army air chiefs.

Former Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, wartime commander of the A. E. F. air forces, electrified the hearing with this declaration:

"Those lobbyists hired Elliott Roosevelt and they moved the aeronautical chamber of commerce to Washington. That's the way they do business. But when Elliott Roosevelt found out he was to be a lobbyist, he beat a hasty retreat."

MARTINS FERRY, O., Dec. 6.—Police today stationed a guard over James Henderson Gault, 20, patient in the local hospital, who they said will be detained until witnesses to the bank robbery at Franklin, O., yesterday, have an opportunity to confront him.

Gault was taken to the hospital, with a gunshot in his left shoulder, by a companion who left soon afterward, taking Gault's clothing. One of the two Franklin bank bandits who fled in commandeered cars was wounded in the left shoulder.

Highway patrolmen said Gault, a coal miner, told conflicting stories about how he was wounded. One version was that he fell on ice, accidentally discharging a gun.

Marshal W. E. Graham shot and killed one of the Franklin bandits, tentatively identified as Thomas Lee, New Concord, O., the marshal himself was wounded. When Marshal Graham took them by surprise, the bank bandits dropped $7,000 of their $10,000 loot.

Truckers Hear About New Laws

Meeting Is Held At Court House On Thursday Evening

Court room number one was filled Thursday night when truckers of Lawrence county heard the provisions of the federal motor carrier act discussed by W. A. Sutherland, general manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association. The meeting was in charge of John Velker, president of the Lawrence county unit of the association.

Mr. Sutherland emphasized the necessity of complying with the provisions of the federal act in the filing of tariffs and applying for federal permits and licenses. Some of the truckers seemed to take the position that the new act is but a temporary thing but the facts show that it is similar to the inter-state laws covering railroads. Those who do not comply with the act will find themselves out of the trucking business.

Many questions were asked and answered and the meeting cleared up many of the tangles that have presented themselves to the truckers.

A throng attended the funeral and there were scores of beautiful baskets and bouquets of flowers banked around the bier in the chapel.

HAILE SELASSIE HAS CLOSE CALL IN PLANE RAID

and wounded by the bombs themselves were eaten up by the raging fire. This added to the difficulties of definitely ascertaining the number of casualties.

The American hospital was gutted by the bombs, despite the red crosses painted on its roofs. Many of the invalids within were seriously wounded. It was believed some were killed.

American Nurse Injured

An American nurse, Patra Hoeving, suffered a broken leg.

Many of the foreign journalists were wounded as our encampment was destroyed.

Emperor Haile Selassie got his first real taste of war. When his palace was bombed, he and Ras Makonne, his 12-year-old son, dashed out, escaping unhurt, and hurried to the wrecked hospital.

There they saw a stream of wounded being carried to the shelled building, being treated with feverish haste by the few doctors available. Emergency operations were being performed under the most difficult circumstances.

Town Is Destroyed

Dessye was virtually destroyed, its flimsy buildings rapidly turned into smoke and ashes. The emperor's more durable palace, which he left burning, was faced with total destruction.

The surprise raid was conducted with precision. The big bombers zoomed low over their objectives, dropped their deadly missiles, and their circled to repeat.

All here were terrified, including the journalists, most of whom had been cabling to their editors that the war was too dull to cover.

Georges Doyon, correspondent for a French news agency, had his leg broken, all of us only narrowly escaped death.

War Comes Closer

The big bombers brought the reality of the war sharply home to the emperor and his aides as well as to the journalists. Dessye is 200 miles from the northern front, but the city could not have been wrecked more had it been right on the Italian lines.

After their first bombardment, the Italian planes roared defiantly over the city a second time dropping a few more bombs, and then some time after the final attack appeared again to survey the damage they had done.

The Italians apparently were attempting to crush the expected major Ethiopian defensive drive at its start. The emperor arrived here less than two weeks ago, a few days after the journalists' caravan had pitched their camp.

The Ethiopians, with half a million warriors in the north country, were ready to open their long-delayed determined defense of their homeland.

Hospital Of Californians

The wrecked hospital, only one in Dessye, is operated by a California couple, Dr. Andreas Stadin and his wife, Seventh Day Adventists.

James Sorenson, head of all the Adventist missions in Ethiopia, and Miss Petra Hoeving, the wounded nurse, have been helping them.

The hospital, although it had only 14 beds, was accommodating more than two score patients, many of them warriors brought here from the northern front for treatment.

Dessye is only 150 miles from Addis Ababa, and today's bombing brought the war the nearest it has been to the Ethiopian capital. Dessye was bombed early in the war, when there were only a handful of people here, but little damage was done.

FIFTH WARD ELECTION BOARD ISSUES DENIAL OF ANY WRONG DOING

reported them on the afternoon of November 6, and the returns as compiled by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand and five attorneys on December 5, there appears to be a wide discrepancy, a discrepancy so wide that it would seem to presume fraud of the grossest nature.

"If there was fraud, and we feel that there has been, we want the citizens of New Castle and Lawrence county to know that such fraud was not committed by us as members and clerks of the election board of the first precinct of the fifth ward.

"All of us have had wide experience in election board work. Never before has there been the slightest suspicion of anything but honest, human error on our parts. Why would there be any reason for altering the returns of the past election?

"First of all had there been any desire to alter the returns would it not be natural to suspect that it would be done in favor of a relative of members of the board who was a candidate? One candidate had two relatives on the board and between our count and the count of the recount board there is a difference of but seven votes.

"Secondly, we say in all sincerity that there were 203 straight Democratic votes cast in our precinct which were not scratched for any office. One candidate for office received that 203 and no other votes on any ticket. We are given to understand that the votes as counted by the recount board showed only about 150 straight tickets including those that were marked straight and then scratched for certain offices.

"Third, is it reasonable to assume that in a precinct that was overwhelmingly for Sunday motion pictures that the board would be liable to short count the vote by 100 which is what appears in the recount?

Fourth, Is it reasonable to assume that a candidate for office in the primary should make a miserable showing and then suddenly develop an amazing strength in the general election? Further is it reasonable to assume that a candidate of Italian descent would not receive a flattering vote in a precinct that is preponderantly voters of Italian descent? Yet the recount makes it appear that Samuel Bassano ran second to Alderman Richard R. Lewis and the recount further shows that a great number of the votes appearing to be cast for Lewis were on the Socialist ticket. The first of the Fifth has few registered Socialists in the precinct and Mr. Lewis was a candidate on the Prohibition and Independent tickets.

Firfth. When the votes were counted by us on the night of November 5th and the morning of November 6th, there were watchers for the judicial candidates present. They were asked if they thought the vote as recorded was correct and they replied in the affirmative. Yet the recount shows a discrepancy of 64 votes. One of the watchers has since been asked if he still thought that the count was honest and he said he thought so but could not account for the discrepancy. Further, a watcher who was interested in the success of Sunday motion pictures was present at the count and was satisfied that his side had received a fair count. Is it reasonable to assume that he could have been cheated out of one hundred votes, particularly when the precinct was in favor of Sunday pictures?

These are facts and we are perfectly willing to stand on them, on our reputations as citizens and upon our count as members of the election board. Justice should be done and miscreants brought to book. We are not the miscreants, we have committed no wrong and we urge a full and complete investigation of the facts.

"We are perfectly willing to have subpoened every voter in the first precinct of the Fifth ward, place him or her under oath, and have them testify in open court who they voted for.

When the ballots left our hands on the afternoon of November 6th the unused ballots were wrapped together in one bundle, the bundle was then tied up with the red tape furnished by the county and the knot on the tape was sealed with the court seal in sealing wax. We understand that the ballots as received by the recount board were in the box loose If they were, they were tampered with.

"We are entitled to justice and the citizens of New Castle and Lawrence county are entitled to justice and a full hearing of these charges. Until that hearing is had, until all the facts are known and every available piece of informaton brought before the court, we ask the citizens of this city and county to reserve their opinion, to face this issue with an open mind. If they do, we are confident that our work will be vindicated and that our reputations will be unsullied.

The main program will consist of musical numbers under the direction of Miss Barbara Schulz, president of the Music club, one part of which will be presented from 2:30 to 3 o'clock, and the second part from 3:30 to 4. The program:

READING CIRCLE '06 DEBATE INTERESTING

Reading Circle '06 members, met in the home of Mrs. H. C. Mitchell, Winter avenue, Thursday afternoon, giving response to roll call with the names of "Interesting People." A large number reported.

Following routine affairs, the assemblage participated in an unusually interesting debate that dealt with "Resolve; That a well equipped municipal park would be of more benefit to New Castle than a broadcasting station," with favor shown the park project. A discussion filled in the remainder of the afternoon hours.

On December 19, the women will be received in the home of Mrs. G. D. Hildebrand, Court street. This is to be in the form of a Yuletide party, with an exchange of gifts.

NEW JUNIOR GUILD PLANS BENEFIT DANCE

Recently, there has been organized among the younger society girls and matrons in this city, a Junior Guild which will assist in the sewing work for Jameson Memorial hospital. The young women are meeting at the hospital each Thursday morning and spending the hours from 9 to 12 fashioning much needed articles for daily use.

The organization is functioning under the following officers; President, Miss Jean Donnelly; treasurer, Mrs. W. W. Horner; secretary, Mrs. Charles H. Johnson, Jr.

To further the work of this decidedly worthwhile organization, plans have been made for a dance to be held on Saturday evening, December 28, in the New Castle Field club, proceeds from which will be strictly for the benefit of the Junior Guild.

Heads of committees are as follows; Mrs. Fred A. Glenn, Mrs. Clyde M. Whittaker, Mrs. W. W. Horner, Mrs. Thomas G. Lamoree.

FIELD CLUB STAG LARGELY ATTENDED

A large attendance marked the stag party held at the New Castle Field club Thursday evening, for the men membership as a pre-holiday celebration. C. B. Fiester presided as host, and shortly after 8 o'clock, numerous games of bridge and other events, were in progress, filling in the hours in a most enjoyable manner.

This informal evening, was concluded with the serving of a "Dutch" lunch, which has always proven popular at these gatherings. Their next party of the same nature, will be held December 19, the hosts to be announced.

YUCATAN CLUB TO BE DINNER GUESTS

Members of the Yucatan club, will be entertained Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Offutt, at a 6:30 o'clock dinner, in The Castleton hotel. It was previously planned to have a card party at 8 o'clock, and this change was made today.

KAFFEE-KLATCHE IS SUCCESSFUL EVENT

One of the most enjoyable social events on the church calendar was the Kaffee-Klatche which was given in the church parlors Thursday evening for members and friends of the Victory Bible Class, of St. John's Lutheran church.

Over one hundred guests enjoyed a very delightful program rendered by a group of men and women from the Madison avenue Christian church, in Mahoningtown, who presented very clever playlets. Mrs. Ben S. Agnew and Avery Rigby rendered beautiful vocal solos, while Stephen Kleckner, Jr., pleased with a horn solo. Miss Lena Richards played lovely accompaniments.

After the program, the guests enjoyed a delightful lunch. Afterwards the lights were extinguished and the red candles, which centered the many small tables, were lighted. Mrs. Ben Agnew led the singing of "Silent Night, Holy Night," in which the assembly joined.

The evening's success was credited to Mrs. Glenn R. Weber, chairman, Mrs. Henry Brudin and Mrs. William Mulcahy.

PUPPET SHOW AND SPEAKER MARK MEET

Junior Hadassah members met Wednesday evening in Beth Shalom Center, for their regular monthly session. The usual order of procedure, was somewhat reversed, the program being given by youngsters of Oak Street school, as the first feature.

This consisted of a novelty puppet show, cleverly put on by the cast composed of Joanne McCollum, Evelyn Black, Edward Severani, Donald Glitch, Alice Davis and Donna Jean Smith. This was directed by Miss Francis Carlon, a teacher of Oak Street school. Of further interest, was the group of harmonica numbers, played by Frank Richards, Joe Deluca and John Gogas.

Business transactions followed, with interesting reports being given in regard to the work done by Junior Hadassah throughout the world. This account was presented by Rosalyn Safier. Miss Ina Rosenberg briefly outlined the program of the National Convention held in Cleveland in November, and emphasized the accomplishments of the local organization, in Palestine.

Miss Rosenberg later introduced as their guest speaker, Mrs. Louis Kohn, honorary president of Senior Hadassah, who gave a report of her personal impressions of the convention, which held the close attention of the assemblage. She also gave the girls a brief outline of the life and work of "Henrietta Szold" whose 75th birthday will soon be celebrated. She is known as the outstanding leader of modern Hadassah.

Hostesses for the evening, included Misses Rosalyn Safier, Ann Shifman, Reva Frank and Dora Winick, each presiding in their role in a most capable manner. They had as special guests, Lillie Braham of New Wilmington and Mrs. C. Grossman, this city.

Plans were laid for 26 guests, and a most delicious full course menu was served at 6 o'clock, with appointments suggesting the Yule season. A jovial time ensued throughout this procedure, and it so happened that Mrs. Flora Cunningham had a birthday too, yesterday, and she was remembered with a lovely gift from the club. Of further interest was the fact that Mrs. M. R. Sweet of Galbreath avenue shared honors, being the recipient of a beautiful token in remembrance of her 41st wedding anniversary.

Miss Bigley told of little details that add to the attractiveness of packages what is considered "good taste" in ribbons, seals, and choice of colored paper used. She demonstrated several suggestions, giving new ideas and displayed much originality, in unique combinations.

A brief business discussion ensued, when members rounded out their plans for the Christmas party to be given at the Elm Street Y. W. C. FOR A SHORT SESSION

LET us all hope that President Roosevelt will be successful in his desire for a short session of congress. The people invariably dread the approach of a congress session and there is no disputing the fact that there has been greater equanimity since the national lawmakers adjourned last August 31 after eight months of continuous activity.

A short session with few important measures on the agenda is good psychology from the administration standpoint. It carries the implication that in almost three years the big work is done and out of the way, and that experimentation is a thing of the past. To load down the session with new and big undertakings would be a confession of ineffectiveness.

The best conceivable tactics would be for the president to make permanent the "breathing spell" of which he has spoken. His Atlanta speech insisted that "the peak of appropriations has passed" and it is assumed that indicates an end to government by surprise. That ought to be true, certainly. If the session is prolonged, the country will suffer from uncertainty and worse. Every sound argument is on the side of a short session.

Yet congress will be remiss unless there is an overhauling of the social security act. This was a hodge-podge, jammed through a legislative body that had no true conception of its content, but imposing upon industry the heaviest tax burden ever laid. There is no assurance of the workability of many of its provisions. If the administration has profited by the criticisms directed against the measure, it should submit corrective amendments

The bonus fight can, of course, consume some time, much depending on the kind of a bill the veterans are willing to espouse. Another obstacle to a short session would arise if the supreme court declared the AAA unconstitutional. Mr. Roosevelt has declared in that event "we will have to face the problem of financing existing contracts for benefit payments out of some form of new taxes." New tax proposals kept the last session going to the end of August!

BILLIONS FOR CHRISTMAS

Holiday buying this year will be greater than it was in 1930.

The National Retail Drygoods Association estimates that the American people will spend $4,500,000,000 for Christmas. This is as much as the government planned to spend for its vast, twelve-month recovery program, now in progress. If spending will really restore prosperity, these two outpourings together should accomplish it.

The Christmas spending may be regarded by some thrifty souls as wasteful or even wicked. It is at least human and understandable. People have been cramped so long, from fear and inability to spend, that now they are going to overdo it in what psychologists would call a great "release."

And on the whole, business authorities agree, it will be a good thing. Here is "pump-priming" that is pump-priming.

And here is happiness, connected with our happiest festival, for millions who have not had much happiness lately.

SALVATION ARMY APPEAL

Efforts are under way to carry through to a successful conclusion a campaign to raise $2500 for maintenance of the Salvation Army work in New Castle during the coming year.

This is truly a modest sum for a work that is of such worth while importance to the community.

While the great bulk of the relief work of the community has been taken care of by state and federal appropriations during the past few years, there is a certain amount of welfare work that must be done by such organizations as the Salvation Army. And, with the shifting back of the relief burden to the local communities there will more than ever be need for just such work as the Army accomplishes.

Work of the Salvation Army is performed quietly, and without much show or ostentation, but its value is not to be discounted because of that condition.

Certainly the small sum being asked in the local campaign should be raised without extraordinary effort.

HAWAII A SECOND GIBRALTAR

If the plan of Representative Parks of Arkansas is adopted, not only will the Panama Canal and the Pacific coast be thoroughly protected, but Hawaii will eventually be built up until it is as "impregnable as Gibraltar." Parks is chairman of the House Appropriations sub-committee which handles the War Department's supply bill. He is to hold hearings beginning on the 16th.

Hawaii is our advanced base in the Pacific, some 2400 miles from California. The capture of it by a powerful enemy would be disastrous. It is by no means inconceivable that some time there will be a serious conflict of international interests in the Pacific. Those little islands of ours—Guam, Wake and the Midway, landing posts for the newly established transpacific air service, could not be defended except—perhaps—by fleets of bombing planes sent out from Hawaii.

We have believed ourselves immune from successful attack. So we are—at present. But such wonderful progress has been made of late in aviation that no one can intelligently place limitations on the future.

We can not make another Gibraltar out of Hawaii at once; the cost would be too great. But that should be our aim by progressive steps. Not only must Hawaii be protected as our first line of defense, but fully conditioned as a base for operations against an invader. Safety depends upon it.

Tokio has just snapped her fingers in the face of the world and now it's Italy's turn again.

Swedish surgeons have encountered a gentleman with two galls and we wouldn't be surprised if we had run into him ourselves in the person of a certain salesman.

Italy is having a hard time financing the war on a cash basis. Everything would be hunky-dory if Il Duce could only borrow some money without intending to pay it back.

A bridge at Oakland, Cal., has been equipped with sirens, loud speakers, bells, red lights and gates, to insure safety, but the average motorist, we believe, is sufficiently resourceful to crack up in spite of these precautions.

Peace Comes Closer.

The Queen's Ring.

Mr. Teagle Says No.

New Baby Named.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

PARIS reports England and France preparing to settle the Italo-Ethiopian war, giving territory to Mussolini. Ethiopia will do whatever England says, and Mussolini will accept peace, if he gets what he wants.

Meanwhile, he has cancelled all leave of absence from his navy, strengthened the fighting air fleet, and his army of 1,000,000 men is ready. It is probable that France will find some arrangement that Mussolini can accept.

Haile Selassie actually "owns" a very small part of Ethiopia at best. Hundreds of chiefs of tribes control the greater part of the so-called empire, and Selassie would be safer with Mussolini to help regulate the independent chiefs.

IT IS inconceivable that European countries should risk a war in Europe to come for the sake of maintaining the right of Ethiopia to continue the business of selling slaves and mutilating children.

ETHIOPIA is still "going" to hurl 500,000 warriors against the Italian invader. It is difficult to "hurl" 500,000 when they must go on foot, and on bare feet through jungles and up narrow canyons against deadly machine guns.

There is no question as to the courage of the Ethiopians, but Mussolini might repeat the saying:

"The wolf does not care how many the sheep are."

THERE IS one happy Ethiopian, named Ras Gugsa. Son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie, he began the war by deserting to Mussolini, taking his fighting men with him.

WHAT IS SECURITY, ANYWAY?

YOU HEAR much talk about "Security" these days.

Not from the young people, but from the older ones.

The younger ones want a job, they want a chance to show what they can do, they aren't particularly interested in "security." . . . They never were, and they never will be interested in it.

But the older ones have the dream of "security" in the back of their minds. . . . They want it for themselves, and they want it for their children. They'd like to have money enough so that their children will be cushioned against some of the rough shocks of this world, will be safe in whatever great storms may come against them in the uncertain future.

Men and women lose faith in many things; but they cling pathetically to their faith in the power of money to protect mankind from unhappiness.

In our hearts we know better. We know that money is NOT security. . . . We know that the only security we can give our children, the only kind that cannot be taxed out of them, inflated out of them, stolen out of them, is a kind that money cannot buy. The kind that can only be given to them at birth, if they are lucky, or by the blessed example of their fathers and mothers (if those parents are the right kind of human beings.)

The only real security is in temperament and example. In a temperament that is able to endure happily or courageously the mishaps of life. In the example a parent gives to his child of fortitude, tenderness, courage, decency, boldness and wise understanding of human relationships and the relationship of all men to the invisible forces of the universe.

In this is the only security that will keep the little human barks safe in the great storms of life. . . . It is hard to remember this. I try, but I forget it shamefully often. . . . Nevertheless, it is every parent's gravest obligation to give THIS security to his children.

SMILES

There's no beauty in the smile
That is flashing all the while.
Something weak is in the chin
Which supports a constant grin.
Laughter chills the blood of me,
Coming where it shouldn't be.
Smiles are commonplace and cheap
Until men have learned to weep.

Lacking sorrow's final touch
Smiles do not amount to much.
Poor the grin, however wide,
If it has no care to hide.
Harsh is laughter in our ears
When our eyes are dim with tears.
One must learn from grief and care
How to smile and when and where.

On the faces of the old
Smiles are lovely to behold.
They have suffered; they have wept,
Learned with patience to accept
Disappointment, loss and pain,
And have come to smile again.
Beautiful that smile appears
Born of sorrows drown the years.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:08.

You may not have noticed it, but all the wearing apparel stores robbed in this city recently are located on Mill street, some upstairs and the rest down?

We have noticed that men are now attending afternoon teas with women, their wives of course. That's all right with us so long as it is not compulsory.

WHEN LITTLE WILLIE DID THE "FADE AWAY"

It was at a dance at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, when some candles dripped and made quite a puddle of grease on the floor. A gentleman standing at the door immediately took out his knife and his handkerchief and began scraping up the congealed grease, when a very fresh young gentleman in "our set" tapped the gentleman on the shoulder and said, rather pompously: "Say, old gentleman, you're interfering with our Paul Jones. Suppose you cut that out."

"I was afraid some of the young ladies might slip," courteously answered the "old" gentleman.

"Well, they won't," answered "Freshie." "Besides, you're not running the hotel." The "old" gentleman had gathered up all the grease by this time and, giving no answer to the last remark, left the room.

"Fresh old guy," continued "Willie" after the dance; "that old man."

"Not exactly fresh, but careful of his guests; that's all," answered a friend.

"His guests?" repeated "Willie."

"Yes," answered the man; "that happened to be Mr. Boldt, the owner of the hotel."

And then didn't "Willie" fade away!

The Christmas business is getting an early start this year. That's the proper way to do it. Waiting until a few days before Christmas to get busy is all wrong. Getting the gifts lined up early is the right thing.

President Roosevelt has promised to keep the next session of congress short. Not letting it meet at all would be far better for the country.

Modern marriage: An agreement between two strangers to board for a while at the same place.

The best protection against old age is to work and earn and make the proper investment of the money so gained. Depending on a pension is all wrong. Already more than half of those entitled to pensions cannot get them.

Who would have thought a few years ago that penitentiaries would have to be heavily guarded to keep other crooks from rescuing crooks on the inside. That is just what happened in Pennsylvania during the past week.

GETTING IDEAS

The most frequent comment that is made to a writer who must regularly supply a definite quota of copy is "I don't see how you dig up so many things to write about."

This is a compliment because I doubt that any writer is quite sure how he gets his ideas. He is regularly paralyzed by the fear that he won't get any more ideas.

If the number of hours that I sit in front of my typewriter vainly striving to capture a thought that seems worth writing were counted and charged to unproductive time, I would be ashamed of myself. Yet only by putting and keeping myself in a place where I have nothing to do but write can I write at all.

Some years ago I employed a man who told me that he could write and edit a monthly magazine in three days. He did that for the first two months and turned out a fairly creditable job. Thereafter he was a flop. In the first two months he drew from a store of ideas that had accumulated in his head during several years. When they were gone, he had nothing else at the tip of his tongue to say. If he had sat down for a couple of weeks and dug deep into his sub-conscious mind, he might have snared enough for another issue and, by repeating the process, might have kept going for years. But he didn't care to do that and so he ceased to be a writer.

What infuriates every writer is to sit all day and accomplish nothing and then pick up a book and read what Emerson called "our own rejected thoughts." Enough copy to fill a shelf of books lies right around us if we could perceive the significance of what we see and hear. Being out of tune with our environment, we don't see anything in a common situation from which another writer fashions a masterpiece.

Only one woman has that look of jolly and peaceful contentment. She is an old maid who has quit struggling.

A man in Kansas 100 years old says his favorite diversion is a midnight meal of cheese, crackers and a mug of beer. Th' sissy.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 19.—The motion picture theatre owners of Virginia are placing a box in each of their lobbies, dressed up with a picture of Will Rogers with appropriate wording showing contributions can be made there.

There is a law in Pennsylvania that provides a penalty for those who haul too many people in the front seat of an automobile, but still there are times when four are wedged into a front seat and some are found just that way after an accident.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 20.—Kenneth W. Simons reports that many benefit shows for Rogers fund are being held in North Dakota. They expect a good showing in round-up. They're making it convenient for those who wish to make small gifts by putting milk bottles in restaurants.

Our idea of ignorance of geography is when an American asked a resident of one of our insular possessions if he drove to New Castle when he came home.

It seems to us that it should not be such a difficult matter to build automobiles without wood in them. A lot of people get burned up in automobile wrecks.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

"Hello," said Smith's neighbor, "back from your day's shooting—have any luck?"

"Rather," said Smith proudly. I got 12 ducks."

His neighbor nodded approvingly.

"Were they wild?" he asked.

"I can't say they were exactly wild," the man replied, "but the farmer who owned them certainly was."

Steel plates have been put over the barred windows of the jail in Titusville because canned heat, bay rum and other confections were passed through the bars to the bad boys on the inside. There are people who even want to take the joy out of being in jail.

When a beautiful girl is shaped just exactly right and everything the neighbor women express the fear that she'll be fat inside of 10 years.

Nature arranges things nicely. Imagine the mess if ice cream cones had come in before whiskers went out.

To keen observers it has not been difficult for them to see why men elected to public office only get to serve one term. Some of them start to defeat themselves as soon as they are sworn in. Doing what the people want is the main thing, no matter how the office holder thinks about it himself.

Two chaps in Butler stole five turkeys and got six months in jail, a $25 fine and replacing the turks or paying for them. It's lucky they were not up for chicken stealing as they would have been sent up for years.

When President Roosevelt ran for president his argument was that times were terribly hard in this country then. His argument in 1936 will be that times are very good in this country now. That is the only argument he can make this time as an excuse for re-election.

"Remeber, Bridget," said the lady to the new maid, "There are just two things I insist upon: truthfulness and obedience."

"Yis, Mum," said Bridget, "and phen yez tell me to tell the callers that yer out whin yer in, which shall it be, Mum, truthfulness or obedience?"

Abount nine thousand Pennsylvania boys tried to join the navy last year. Six thousand of them were rejected because of physical defects. And that's something to worry about for those who take an interest in mankind.

Time saving suggestions: If you let correspondence accumulate long enough, it doesn't seem to need answering.

Curious—I wish I could find out how many relatives I have.

Cynic—Why, that's the easiest thing in the world—just buy a summer cottage.

The people of the United States are still divided into two distinct classes—those who own and drive automobiles and those who dodge them.

By FRANCINE MARKEL

Now is the hustle-and-bustle time of the year when you will be in great haste and in a state of agitation as to what Christmas gift to buy for whom.

You will scurry from one shop to another, getting more and more tired and irritable as the day goes on. You will have a nerve-wearing time edging your way through crowds trying to get the attention of a salesman or saleswoman who is also feeling the strain of standing and endeavoring to please an exacting public.

In your quest of Christmas gifts do not let your frazzled nerves cause you to take unfair advantage of the overworked clerks who must depend upon your patronage and whims to retain their positions.

If you are worn out from the strain of selecting a few gifts, have pity on the clerks who must endure that same monotonous grind for eight or nine hours six days a week. They deserve as much courtesy and consideration from you as you demand from them.

Oppose Japanese Expansion.
Bankers Dislike Heavy Cost.
See Roosevelt Switching Back.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th St.
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Japanese bankers are not favorable to Japanese expansion—at least, as such a rapid pace. That is the word from Japan.

Manchoukuo has been a heavy drain. Investments there have been large, returns small.

North China would require millions of yen to develop. It is barren, in many respects, of possibilities.

Besides, any great expansion of industry in these annexed regions would anger Japanese industrialists, who have millions at stake in Japan itself, and do not desire competition from colonies.

Why, then, does Japan proceed?

Because there is a virtual military dictatorship. That dictatorship believes in state capitalism.

For example, the South Manchuria railway is called on constantly by the military dictatorship to "invest" in industries in Manchoukuo. Japanese bankers are trying to call a halt, for the railway borrows for the "investments" from the bankers. And there is little chance of getting the money back.

But the bankers have to be careful. There is agitation in Japan against bankers. It is a sort of fascistic agitation. And bankers and statesmen who oppose the will of the military may fall victim to the assassin.

PRESIDENT'S PLANS?

No newspaper man knows President Roosevelt's plans. Probably few, if any, of his associates know them. But Bernard Kilgore, star man of the Wall Street Journal, has made a prediction that has stirred financial New York.

It is a prediction that the president will "switch back" to the liberals and fight out the election with them.

Kilgore says:

"President Roosevelt will make renewed bids for liberal support before the new year is very old and, if one or two more important pieces of New Deal legislation are ruled invalid by the supreme court, may even decide by next summer to make 'modernization' of the constitution an issue in the 1936 campaign. . . .

"While the administration has adopted recovery as one of its main talking points next year and is trying to make the most of the much-advertised breathing spell, this bid for conservative support—if, in fact, it is such a support—is failing to meet with anything like an enthusiastic reception. Business leaders, by and large, are refusing to believe that a swing to the right is under way.

"It won't take the president and his chief advisers forever to find his out. . . ."

* * *

TWO HOT SPOTS

Choice for the Republican national convention seems to be devolving on Cleveland, and choice for the Democratic convention may devolve on Philadelphia.

Chief reasons: Republicans believe they have an opportunity to carry Ohio, fourth most populous state, and Ohio has no candidate of its own to push. Democrats believe they have a chance to carry Pennsylvania, second most populous state.

Thus they'll go to their respective battlegrounds to stir up enthusiasm.

* * *

CURIOSITY

The banking act, most bitterly fought New Deal measure in congress, probably will be the only major New Deal measure not attacked in the courts.

Reasons: There is no constitutional question concerning the right of congress to regulate money and banking, as far as it desires to go. Secondly, the banks feel safer under a banking act. Thirdly, there are ways of getting around the inhibition against dealing in securities—as observe the securities' trading house formed by Morgan men.

* * *

SPENDING AND PRICES

Can prices be maintained without government spending? That is a moot question. This Wall Street view is presented by the Wall Street Journal:

"Adding to the problems of the day is the question of how big a factor government spending has been in the recovery to date. It is still safe to say that 'confidence', at least confidence in the long term future, has not returned. It would seem an extreme in optimism to believe that the government could withdraw from its commitments in business, banking and agriculture and leave the price level standing where it is. The blood transfusion that will take the government out of business and substitute private capital is an operation sufficiently delicate to make it doubtful if it can be accomplished without some intermediate disturbance.

"The investor, it seems apparent, must be on his guard to determine to his own satisfaction whether government spending has put the market up and if the answer is in the affirmative he must be alert for signs of a contraction in expenditures. In French and German inflations investors were wooed along by rising prices into a belief that the trend would continue after stabiliation had set in."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE POT AND KETTLE

An elderly gentleman, sustaining whiskers that showered in all directions like sparks from a short circuit, climbed on a street car in a California city, with a woman perhaps in her forties—some thirty years younger perhaps than Granther at that. She was lavishly cosmetized.

They were arguing when they got on; they sat right in front of one who was a good listener and he heard:

"You ought to shave off those whiskers!" hammered the woman, with persistance and variations.

"Why?" said Gran'ther suddenly.

"Well, they don't look good—and they sure do make you look old" said the woman. And Gran'ther evidently turned this over in his mind as the argument rolled on.

Suddenly Gran'ther squirmed in his seat again and fixed a beady eye upon his companion's lacquered cheeks.

"Dearie," he said, "these whiskers don't make me look old, any more than that paint makes you look young."

Argument kapoot.

Today's Yesterdays—Dec. 6, 1421—Henry VI died. He is chiefly remembered because he pawned the crown jewels of England to defray the expenses of his marriage to Margaret of Anjou. Which should be interesting to all the bridegrooms who get the engagement and wedding rings paid for about the time the first baby arrives.

Dec. 6, 1492—Christopher Columbus, still looking for Asia, landed at an island he called Hispaniola (now Haiti) and established the first Christian settlement in the New World. He named it Isabella for his queen.

Dec. 6, 1732—The first play known to have been performed in America by professional players was staged at the New theater in New York City.

It was "The Recruiting Officer", a popular Drury Lane success from London written by George Farquhar, celebrated actor who quit the stage and became a dramatist after he killed a fellow player in a make-believe duel.

Dec. 6, 1682—The Annie Laurie was born at Maxwellton, Scotland, daughter of the first baronet—Sir Robert Laurie—of the Maxwellton family.

The man—a Douglas—who wrote the first version of the immortal song about her failed to win her hand! She was 27 when she rejected his suit to wed a Ferguson.

Dec. 6, 1917—The worst explosion on the American continent occurred when the steamer Mont Blanc, loaded with munitions, collided with the Belgian relief ship Imo in Halifax harbor. More than 1,500 were killed, 4,000 injured seriously, $50,000,000 property damage done.

Troubles never come singly. A blizzard swept down on Halifax next day.

Writing Wrongs—You're wrong if you believe—

That an ambassador, minister or consul must be a citizen of the country which he represents in order to be recognized by the country to which he is sent.

A number of countries have American citizens as consular agents in this country, and could give them diplomatic powers which would be recognized in Washington. Any American citizen enjoying this recognition possesses all the immunity from laws enjoyed by other consular and diplomatic representatives.

That bulls are more excited by red than any other color.

They aren't. It's movement, not color, that agitates them.

Correctly Speaking—

"Hustle" is colloquial in the United States when used intransitively to mean "hasten", "Hurry" or "industrious."

GARDENERS HAVE HOLIDAY PROGRAM

Featuring a Christmas program, the Lawrence County Garden club enjoyed Thursday afternoon's meeting for December, in the home of Mrs. Charles Greer, on North Jefferson street.

After the customary buffet luncheon, which was delicious and appropriately appointed, the business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. C. A. Ingals. Results were re-election of all past year officers: Mrs. C. A. Ingals, president; Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad, first vice president; Mrs. William Howley, second vice; Mrs. A. P. Treser, recording secretary; Mrs. M. Feuchtwanger, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. C. Kennedy, treasurer; members-at-large, Mrs. E. W. Greiner and Mrs. W. C. Kennedy.

It was voted to change the election date to correspond with the state federation, beginning in the spring of 1927. Mrs. S. D. Pearson announced a new program which she had planned together with Mrs. Harry Wettich, Mrs. C. A. Burckart and Mrs. Russell Allen. It features many events of interest, promising one of the best year's outlines which has been presented to the club.

For the program, Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad gave a splendid talk on "Christmas Customs in Other Lands," taking the place of Mrs. A. P. Treser, who was absent. An open discussion of the subject followed, early customs of the various peoples up to Twelfth Night being revealed.

Roll call was answered by giving lines of poetry in which Christmas greens were mentioned, and appropriate to the occasion, Mrs. C. A. Burckart had a display of holiday wreaths and table decorations and Mrs. C. A. Ingals was responsible for a showing of The Nativity, which was unusual and original.

On January 2, the Lawrence county club will join with the other Garden club groups throughout the county in observing County Day. The event will be held in the Y. W. C. A. with the following hostesses: Mrs. William Howley, Mrs. Grace Crawford and Mrs. Harry Wettich. Members of all the garden clubs will be cordially welcomed.

Canal Project Is Defended

Statement Ohio River-Erie Canal Not Practical Are Denied

SAY EXTRA TONNAGE COULD BE HANDLED

By VICTOR J. JACOBS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6— Two champions of river transportation today heatedly challenged statements of A. R. Kennedy, a spokesman for the general traffic committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, that construction of the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio river canal is not entirely practicable.

Answering the claims for International News Service, George Lehman, canal board engineer and long a prime mover for the waterway and State Sen. William B. Rodgers, said local river facilities are adequate to handle the extra tonnage that would result from construction of the route and agreed that public and industry demand it.

The traffic committee had adopted a resolution recommending that the Chamber of Commerce withdraw approval it gave the project some years ago. H. B. Kirkpatrick, president of the commerce body, said he could not comment for the chamber's board of directors or individually until the resolution is taken up at the regular monthly meeting to be held soon.

Kennedy charged that locks in Pittsburgh rivers are insufficient to handle excess river traffic; that the canal would detrimentally affect railroads by loss of huge tonnage and there would be no great benefits to be realized from comparative rates.

"The locks in local rivers," Sen. Rodger said, "are not used more than five or ten percent of their capacity.

Now he is governor of Tigre Province, by the grace of Mussolini, and is happy on the Italian side of the line, "buying new clothes, perfumes and other gifts for his women friends."

He is going to Europe to do more shopping just as soon as the war is over. Wise is he who knows the winning side, if his conscience keeps quiet.

ENGLAND'S two biggest battleships in the Mediterranean, significantly sent to "scare" Mussolini, are going out through the Straits of Gibraltar, from which the anti-submarine boom has been removed.

Reason given—"Short cruises for the benefit of the crews."

The real reason may be that peace is not far distant, and England wants to show goodwill.

The 42,000-ton battleship Hood will go to Madeira, producing the fine wine of which, as Universal Service reminds you, George Washington drank a bottle a day.

TO MUSSOLINI'S "fund of gold" the Queen of Italy has sent the gold wedding ring that King Victor Emmanuel put on her finger when they were married.

Queen Elena, by birth a Princess of Montenegro, writes to Mussolini: "My wedding ring represents the dearest thing I possess, because it reminds me of the day when I had the fortune to become an Italiain."

Italian take patriotism seriously.

WALTER C. TEAGLE, head of Standard Oil of New Jersey, did not make a deal to supply Mussolini with all his oil for thirty years, casually arranging to finance the Italian oil market up to $300,000,000. Mr. Teagle says so, and it is so. BUT when the wise John D. Rockefeller once said, "I want to see my managers, their desks cleared, and their feet on the desks, studying how to make money for Standard Oil," he had men like Walter Teagle in mind.

Mr. Teagle has a Standard Oil business in Italy, and if anybody gets the big 30-year contract, on a business basis, he probably will get it.

IN GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, a kindly clergyman sprinkled a tiny Negro baby just born, naming him "Roosevelt Selassie Caleb." The boy's parents, descendants of slaves, say the name was chosen to honor "the greatest man in the world, President Roosevelt."

The little baby may wonder later why his parents dragged in Haile Selassie, in whose empire slavery still exists as a major industry?

DON C. SEITZ, first-class newspaper man in both editorial and business departments, is dead, only 73 years old.

Don Seitz did good work for Joseph Pulitzer, one of the "big four" of American newspaper history. He had the faculty of really believing that his newspaper and its owner were always right and everybody else always wrong.

Italy Withdraws From "Stresa" Front

(International News Service)

MILAN, Dec. 6.—Practically announcing Italy's withdrawal from the Stresa "front" against rearmed Germany, Popolo d'Italia today warned Britain and France that Italy will not fight at their side in a European conflagration.

Popolo d'Italia was founded by Premier Benito Mussolini, and the editorial was certainly either written or inspired by him.

"Europe, in its hour of torment, will not have the moral right to ask salvation from Italy," the paper declared.

All Paris is wearing pastel colored veils on dark hats. A turquoise veil worn on a black hat is a striking contrast, or a peach colored veil, or a navy blue.

COLLEGE BARS DOGS

(International News Service)

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—A dog catcher was recently added to the University of Utah staff. His presence on the campus became necessary when President George Thomas recently issued an order banning college canines, because they "bark, disturb recitations and even drink at the fountains."

DEMOCRATS TO SEEK SHORT CONGRESS SESSION

President To Hurry Congress

Democrats Hope Next Session Will Be Brief And Harmonious One

PRESIDENT HAS MUST PROGRAM

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Congress unquestionably will be as desirous of a short session, when it meets in January, as President Roosevelt is said to be.

The Democratic lawmakers, anyway, hope it will be short, and peaceful, too.

The Republicans naturally would like to see the majority get into a fearful row within itself, which would be likely to spin out the proceedings, but even G. O. P. politicians don't care to have them overlap the national conventions, as occurred in 1932; it embarrasses a re-election candidate to be tied up in Washington when he wants to be at home, spellbinding and contacting the voters.

Congressman's Problems

To be sure, spellbinding, at big meetings, isn't as important as once it was. It can be done by radio.

However, not all candidates have first-class radio personalities.

Those who are a little deficient in this respect have to depend more on slapping backs and shaking hands.

A national statesman, like President Roosevelt, must have a wholesale appeal. He can't possibly know, personally, any considerable number of the folk whose ballots he solicits.

But a representative transacts a retail business; he needs to be intimate with his neighbors. He can't kiss babies, as the saying is, wirelessly.

Early Adjournment?

Congress, then, is certain to try to adjourn well in advance of the conventions.

The Democrats will endeavor to adjourn it harmoniously.

The Republicans will endeavor to adjourn it in the midst of a record-breaking rumpus.

The Democrats should have their way, being in a vast majority—but it is a split majority. The Republicans are fairly solid. There are some progressive dissenters; nevertheless the G. O. P. is a fairly cohesive group, which will take every advantage of Democratic dis-union and stick reasonably well together as to themselves.

"Must" Program

The Roosevelt "must" program is outlined.

The president wants:

1. The necessary appropriation bills passed.
2. A new neutrality measure.
3. A new pure food and drugs law.
4. A new ship subsidy act.
5. Some sort of a substitute for NRA.

The president hopes to dodge increased taxation (taxes being a ticklish thing for an administration to sponsor at the beginning of an election year) but heaven alone knows whether or not he can do it; it is a serious danger.

The president scarcely can hope to avoid having the soldiers' bonus passed—and re-passed over his veto, which will leave a bad taste in the ex-serviceman's mouth.

Then—The Supreme Court

Finally, a large part of the New Deal, may, in January, be knocked into a cocked hat by the federal supreme court.

The NRA already has gone by the board.

Under attack are the AAA, the Bankhead cotton control law, utility regulation, Senator Guffey's "little NRA" for bituminous coal control, Wagner labor relations regulation and social security.

Let the "nine old men on Capitol Hill" rule against the constitutionality of the bulk of this legislation and there is no telling how long congress will be kept on the job—to say nothing of increased taxation and the soldiers' bonus.

They'll Try to make it a short session. But will they succeed?

MERCER COUNTY FARMERS TO MEET

MERCER, Dec. 5—Plans have been completed for the first annual convention of the Mercer County Farm Bureau Organization, which will take place Tuesday, December 10, in the assembly room of the court house at 1:30 p. m. Speakers will be present from state headquarters. Officers and directors were elected ed for the coming year.

YOU CAN DRIVE NAILS IN THIS NEW KIND OF TUBE

Self-Seals Punctures Instantly

See what Goodrich engineers have done! They've actually made a tube that seals its own punctures instantly—without losing the air!

Imagine! You can plunge an ice-pick right into any tire equipped with this tube! Or hammer in tacks and nails! Then pull them out! Apply your air pressure gauge. You'll find the air has not escaped! And weeks—yes, months later this remarkable self-sealing tube will continue to give you protection against "flats".

LOW IN COST

Although the new Goodrich Seal-o-matic Safety Tube is much tougher, far more efficient and specially re-inforced to resist rim chafing—it costs only slightly more than ordinary tubes. Permits easier riding, too. No wheel wobble or shimmy. Will not "run hot" from high speeds. Think of the time, trouble and expense you save.

Used in the new Golden Ply Silvertown that protects you against blow-outs, this new Goodrich Seal-o-matic Safety Tube should make it unnecessary to ever change a tire on the road!

Get the new Goodrich Seal-o-matic Safety Tubes, put them in your Golden Ply Silvertowns... and kiss tire troubles goodbye!

Editor Seeks Lost City In Venezuela

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—New light may soon be thrown on the romantic story of early Spanish exploration.

This is the hope of Talcott Williams Powell, former Indianapolis editor, who will lead an expedition within a few weeks to locate a "lost" city on an island off the coast of Venezuela.

Powell, who sailed from here, plans to write a book on Venezuela while he is away. The "lost" city was founded by Spaniards in 1510, he said, and destroyed about fifty years later by hurricane and an earthquake.

Gov. Talmadge Makes Reply To Roosevelt

Georgia Governor Outlines His Position On U. S. Policies

TAKES FIRM STAND FOR BONUS PAYMENT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Gov. Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia, today took a firm stand for immediate payment of the soldier bonus in a speech here broadcast over a nation-wide hookup.

Bitterly assailing the policies of the national administration, the militant southern executive at the same time answered point for point President Roosevelt's recent speech at Atlanta.

Talmadge charged the administration with combining "the worst elements of Communism and Socialism" and destroying state's rights. He criticized the Roosevelt "inflation" financing methods and arraigned the social security law.

But his most vigorous attack was directed against the administration's "cruel policy of scarcity in America" and its spending policies.

"The present administration at Washington has spent more money during the last three years than all of the administrations of the United States combined from George Washington to Woodrow Wilson.

"And, in this time of peace throughout America, we are informed that we have reached the high era of spending. The era, of course, includes the remainder of 1935, and the election year of 1936.

"The great $4,880,000,000 security appropriation is to be spent during election year.

"Spent for what? Still teaching boondoggling, aesthetic dancing, ballet etiquette, surveying the basin of the Mediterranean Sea, and looking up the historic background of the safety pin?

"I will tell you a way to spend two and one-half billion dollars of it, and at the same time retire a debt. Congress is going to vote to pay the soldiers' bonus in January, 1936, and if it is vetoed, they are going to pass it over the president's veto.

"The wise step for congress to take is to pay up a debt by paying the bonus, and stop all of this boondoggling by paying the bonus over the president's veto out of that $4,880,000,000 security appropriation.

"This will bring back more progress and more prosperity to America than ten billion dollars flitted to the winds in boondoggling and its kindred activities."

Governor Talmadge opened his address by explaining why he had stayed away when the president spoke on Nov. 29, in Atlanta.

"His (the president's) address was clearly announcing his candidacy for re-election," Talmadge declared.

"I did not attend...I did not wish to appear hypocritical. I did not wish anyone in America to think that I condoned in any manner the policies of the present administration."

The governor explained he had listened to the speech over the radio on a south Georgia farm. He said:

"At the time...I saw white men and boys plowing and digging stumps at smaller wages than they were paid at any time prior to the World war."

Split Over Canal In Pittsburgh

By VICTOR JACOBS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6—Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce was split into opposing factions today as long shouldering dissension over the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio canal flared into the open.

While the controversy raged, two champions of Great River transportation, George Lehman, canal board engineer and long a prominent canal booster, and State Senator William B. Rodgers, head of the tri-state authority, again reiterated their arguments in favor of the canal.

The controversy was precipitated by the statement of A. R. Kennedy, a member of the Chamber's general traffic committee, in which he opposed the canal and said the committee would urge the organization to reserve its 50 year policy of favoring the Canal.

Proponents of the canal, in reply, today charged the committee was being influenced by railroad interests.

Apology Offered To Iran Minister

Apology Comes As Result Of Arrest By Maryland Officer

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The United States government today formally apologized to the minister of Iran for the recent action of Maryland police officers in handcuffing the envoy and otherwise disregarding his diplomatic immunity in an automobile dispute.

In apologizing on behalf of this government to Minister Ghaffar Khan Djalal, Secretary of State Cordell Hull notified him that the two Elkton, M., officers had been tried on a charge of assault, fined, and removed from public service.

The dispute which led to the handcuffing of the Iranian minister resulted from charges that the car in which he was riding was exceeding the speed limit as it traveled through Elkton.

P. R. R. Veterans Will Banquet Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow the veterans will hold sway—the veterans of the Pennsylvania railroad in this territory—when the Erie & Ashtabula Division Veterans' association holds its annual reunion banquet at The Castleton.

Like in past years, groups of the system's oldtimers with service records of 30 years or more, will invade the city from many points on the E. & A.

The dinner will be served at 12:30 p. m. and a program will follow.

Marking the program will be the annual memorial ceremonies for association members who have died during the past year. R. E. O'Donnell, this city, is president of the organization.

Mike Grady, "the railroad poet" of Canton, O., who is foreman of the Pennsylvania shops at Canton, will give the chief address of the afternoon. R. V. Lally, Pennsylvania yardmaster at Niles, O., will be toastmaster.

A group of guests will attend tomorrow as in former years.

Challenges Girl To Jumping Duel

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Tex.—One of the attractions of the 1936 Texas Centennial Central Exposition here may be an altitude duel between two women parachute jumpers.

Mrs. Virgil Pritchett, wife of a Dallas policeman, and women's jailer at the city jail, has issued a challenge to Alice Gibson, Oakland, Calif., who has announced her intention of leaping out of a plane six miles above Times Square, New York, in an attempt to set a new mark.

Mrs. Pritchett, formerly held the world feminine chute jumping record. In 1932, then Miss Marie McMillen, set a mark of 20,800 feet during the national air races, at Cleveland. The present record 26,575 feet, is held by a Russian aviatrix.

New Gold Field In Alaska Is Hard To Reach

Only Access To Latest "Strike" Is Said To Be By Plane

(International News Service)

CORDOVA, Alaska, Dec. 6.—Reports of rich free gold discoveries in what is known as the Bremner and Nabesna districts, lying northeast of Cordova, were confirmed by an investigator who made a trip into the region 60 miles from the Copper River & Northwestern railroad.

Expressing the belief that the Bremner district has produced more real gold discoveries this summer than any section of Alaska, he cited the Chick Nelson discovery on Forgotten creek as one of the best looking hard rock properties he had ever seen.

Five veins running from eight to 50 inches in width contain free gold ore running up to $6.00 a pound. Some of the specimens are described as being so impregnated with gold that the pure metal may be seen at a distance of ten feet.

The second rich find was made by John Letendre on Golconda creek. The ore is comparable in richness with that of Nelson's find.

In the Nelson discovery pannings with an eight-inch frypan were taken of the gouge alongside the vein and gave $1.00 to the pan.

The owners are taking out and sorting ore which will pay to ship by airplane.

In the Nabesna mine a core drill sent in at the 250-foot level on a vein explored to a depth of 650 feet cut eight feet of ore which gave samples of $12,000 to the ton, but which showed an average sampling $200 to $300 per ton.

Exploration in two operating mines now equipped with machinery disclosed that the veins are well-placed and values are increasing with depth as are the ore bodies in volume.

The report has had the effect of creating a mild stampede, although the district is difficut to reach, it being necessary for stampeders to travel by dogteam in winter and lay up until the thaw in spring, relying upon airplane travel to emerge in summer when streams are swollen.

As yet no trails have been blazed into the region.

In anticipation of being compelled to rely upon airplane transportation until a road is built into the new bonanza district, two large hangars are being constructed in Cordova at the present time together with a complete machine shop for plane repair. Four planes have been based at the airport and others are expected to be added.

Asked if he would recommend the district to prospectors, Pat Cotter, who is an experienced mining man, said it was his opinion that the district was large and that many rich discoveries remain to be unearthed.

As yet no camp or accommodations are available, and men without grubstakes or means with which to secure them cannot hope to reach the district or secure employment either in the district or Cordova where every precaution is being taken up to prevent the city filling with penniless stampeders, and where all labor is registered and local labor is given preference at all times. In many instances labor is being supplied by successful business men as a means of preventing want. Crab and Clam canneries delayed opening operations until after summer work was ended so as to provide labor to the deserving.

The place is now playing a potent part in Alaska development.

Tractors and automobiles are being taken into the Arctic by airplane, and the retailing of coastal canned goods and iced crabs as far north as Circle City is made possible by air. Crabs thus delivered cost $1.50 each.

One man north of the Arctic Circle placed an order for a cow to be delivered by airplane, but received no accepters for the job. Chickens, dogs, foxes and cats are the limit of livestock freight.

Female Labor Law Warning Is Issued

No Exemption For Employment Of Minors During Holiday Season

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—At the request of Secretary of Labor and Industry Ralph M. Bashore, his director of the Bureau of Inspection, John Campbell, has issued a general warning to all store owners calling attention to the provisions of the Woman's Law, avert violations during the holiday season.

The Woman's Law prohibits any female under 21 years of age from being employed in, or permitted to work in, or in connection with any establishment for more than six days in one week, more than 54 hours in any one week, or more than ten hours in any one day, and provides further that no female under 21 years of age is permitted to work before the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning or after 9 o'clock in the evening of any day.

Secretary Bashore also urged employers to pay particular attention to the laws regulating the employment of minors, pointing out that the law did not provide for any exemptions during the holiday season.

Nehemiah Rebuilding Jerusalem's Wall

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Nehemiah 4:6—"The people had a mind to work."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for December 8 is Nehemiah 2:1 to 7:4, the Golden Text being 4:6, "The people had a mind to work." To give an epitome of the work and message of Nehemiah we again print a chapter from the author's book, "The Gist of the Bible Book by Book," Dr. Alvin E. Bell, Toledo, O., publisher.)

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

NEHEMIAH, whose autobiography we have in this book, is one of the most admirable characters of the Old Testament, and one of the noblest patriots in Jewish history. His heart was broken by the reports that came back to Babylon from Jerusalem, telling of the desolation of the city of his fathers, its uncompleted walls, its neglected temple and temple services, and the affliction of the remnant of Jews who had returned under Zerubbabel and Ezra. His grief won from King Artaxerxes the permission to lead back to Jerusalem a third group of captives about 14 years after the return under Ezra.

Nehemiah's Great Task

So thoroughly did he imbue his countrymen with his patriotic zeal and faith and prayerfulness that in the remarkably short space of 52 days the colossal task of building the walls and gates of Jerusalem was completed. He knew how to secure co-operation, for, inspired by him, "the people had a mind to work." Of course he met with tremendous opposition from their enemies in Samaria, but the work was pushed to completion with trowel in one hand and sword in the other.

Nehemiah And The "Loan Sharks"

Nehemiah had not only to fight the ridicule and treachery of Samaria, but also the heartlessness of the "loan sharks" of his own people who were enslaving their brethren by usury. He rebuked them severely, shamed their greed by his own unselfish service, and stopped their practices.

A True Revival

But Nehemiah's restorations went beyond the material things of walls and gates and rates of interest. He restored the Word of God to the people in a true revival in which he had the co-operation of Ezra. The law of Moses was read and explained to the whole populace and the people were led to confess their sin and enter into a covenant pledging loyalty to Jehovah. Repeatedly in the book we see the sense of right relations between faith and works expressed thus: "We made our prayer unto our God, and set a watch against them day and night." Nehemiah would have said with Cromwell, "Trust in God and keep your powder dry." Before God he was justified by his faith alone; before men he proved his faith by his works.

OHIO TOWN LIVES WITHIN ITS INCOME

SOMERSET, O., Dec. 6.—Determined to live within their income, councilmen here have voted unanimously to have street lights shut off and services of their police officers discontinued on January 1. AT THIS PORCH PARTY, Mrs. McIntosh served GINGER TEA CAKES (1 egg)

1½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1½ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
1½ teaspoons ginger
¼ cup butter or other shortening
4 tablespoons brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup molasses
½ cup boiling water

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add flour, alternately with molasses, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add boiling water, mixing quickly to blend. Turn into small greased cup-cake pans, filling them ½ full, and bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Cool. Cover tops of cakes with butter frosting. Makes 2 dozen tea cakes. (All measurements are level.)

WHY IS CALUMET so dependable? Why is such a small amount needed—just a level teaspoon to a cup of sifted flour in most recipes? Why is it different from other baking powders?

Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.

Calumet's remarkable Double-Action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. Calumet is a product of General Foods.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL PERSONNEL OVER MAXIMUM SET

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 6.—Britain's naval personnel has since mid-November exceeded the maximum of 94,482 authoried by parliament, it was officially admitted today as hopes grew fainter that an Italio-Ethiopian peace could be worked out before the League of Nations committee meets less than a week from today to impose an oil embargo.

The excessive man-power of the navy is "due to naval dispositions of the last few months"—referring to fleet concentrations in the Mediterranean, an official "white paper" said.

Parliament will be asked to vote a new appropriation "for this and other emergency measures," Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, said.

CONSUMER MUST PAY IF METER FREEZES

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—If a water meter is damaged by freezing because of failure to protect it properly, the company may require the customer to pay for the repairs.

This seasonal reminder comes from the Public Service Commission. Many complaints are received by the commission during the winter against the charge made by water companies for repairing frozen meters.

The commission also pointed out that in the case of frozen water lines, as in all other cases, the company's responsibility ends at the curb. It is responsible only from the main in the street to the curb. Repairs to the line from the curb to the house must be paid for by the customer.

How honest is man? Well, why do we have mortgages, notes and collateral for credit?

The back country isn't like wicked New York. Its killings are done by nice people instead of gangsters.

"He didn't say a word to me about Gov. Hoffman's visit. But he did say he knew the truth would come to light in the long run."

KILL MICE AND DISC ORCHARDS THIS FALL

Each season the fruit grower is confronted with the problem of mouse control and soil management.

In the past these have been considered separately, but there is a close relationship between them.

Just now the mouse problem is most pressing. It brings up the need of preventing tree losses and ultimate decrease in yield resulting from damage by mice. Repelling the mice is not enough. Death to the rodents is the sentence. Only in that way can the orchard be saved.

Poison baits and mechanical methods work together satisfactorily in controlling the mice. While the starch-coated strychnine bait placed in burrows under corn fodder reduces the mouse population, fall discing aids decidedly in greater reduction.

Fall discing also increases the available soil fertility. Where annual discing or "weed-hogging" is practiced the percentage of trees found girdled in the spring is substantialy lower. Also, stimulation of trees as a result of the greater availability of commercial fertilizers applied.

CHICKENS NEED DAILY SUPPLY OF VITAMIN D

Poultrymen have not been supplying sufficient vitamin D to their laying birds during the winter months, particularly when the birds were kept housed all the time, it was discovered in recent experimental work at the Pennsylvania State College experiment station.

Lack of sunshine or substitutes which supply vitamin D may result in low egg production, crooked breast bones, poor egg shells and lowered resistance to disease.

The chicken does not build up a reserve supply of vitamin D in its body to draw upon if needed. For this reason it is important that the vitamin D concentrate should be fed daily or at least quite often.

Fish oils such as cod liver oil and sardine oil are the sources of vitamin D usually used. In the past about one pint of either of these oils has been used to each 100 pounds of laying mash. This amount should be increased to a pint and one-half for ample protection. If concentrated or fortified oils are used, smaller amounts will supply the amount of vitamin D to meet the birds' requirements.

If the oil is not fed in the dry mash, it may be fed in the wet mash or mixed with scratch feed at the rate of one and one-half pints per day to 700 birds. If the oil is mixed with the scratch feed, the feed should be fed in troughs rather than scattered in the litter.

ADJUST CATTLE TO FEED AND STABLE CONDITIONS

As dairy cattle go into winter quarters, dairymen of Lawrence county should go over the herd carefully and adjust it to existing stable and feed conditions.

No more cattle should be kept than can be comfortably stabled and adequately fed. Dairy cattle respond quickly to good feed and care and just as quickly show the effect of crowding, neglect or short rations.

The stable should be comfortable, well lighted and so arranged as to make it possible to do the necessary daily work in the easiest way. Often a little study of the general stable arrangement will show where changes can be made that will reduce the labor needed or increase the comfort of the cattle. Cow comfort increases dairy profits and labor saving lowers production costs.

Attention should also be given to calves and heifers. If the heifers came from pasture in poor condition they should be put on a ration that will restore lost flesh and keep them in good growing condition for the winter. If the quality of hay is good and silage is available, the grain ration need not be large, but it usually will pay well to give enough grain to keep calves and heifers thrifty and growing.

The herd should be carefully adjusted to the supply of home grown feed supplies on hand, especially the roughage. It is easy to estimate the amount of hay in the barn and the ensilage in the silo. It is also easy to calculate the amount of hay, silage, and other roughage necessary to feed liberally all cattle and other livestock on the farm until new pasture or new feed crops are available.

If a feed shortage seems probable before spring now is the time to go over the herd and weed out some of the less desirable animals. There may be cases or garget or abortion in the herd, or low producers, or old cows past their prime. Some of these should probably go out even though feed supply is ample.

If more young animals are being raised than necessary some weeding here may be desirable, too. Think over the breeding of each calf and take first those from the poorest cows and also those showing any evidence of disease. It is much better to sell a few cows and heifers now than to put the entire herd on short rations before spring.

THERE ARE THREE WAYS TO LOWER MEAT BILLS

Meat prices are considerably higher than last year. From various reports it seems very unlikely that the price of meat will decrease in the next few months. This presents a definite problem to the homemaker who is trying to stretch the food dollar to its limit, says Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative.

There are three ways to lowewr the meat bill. Use cheaper cuts of meat and only once a day; use small amounts of meat with cereals, the so-called meat extender dishes; and by the use of meat substitutes, such as cheese and dried legumes.

Heart, kidneys, and livers are still reasonable in price. Liver especially contains a rich supply of protective minerals and vitamins and gives good food value return for the money.

Chopped meat is inexpensive and has no waste. A small amount can be mixed with potatoes, or cooked and used to make a loaf or hash.

The price of pork has risen more than other meats which makes its use almost prohibitive to the housewife, unless she is fortunate enough to have it canned. Pork is the least desirable of the meats, especially for children because of its high fat content which often causes indigestion.

Cheese perhaps is our most reliable meat substitute and it may be used in many ways in the diet, for example, in omelets, souffles, and sauces. Both cheddar and cottage cheese may easily be made in the farm kitchen by using the surplus milk supply. Dried legumes, such as peas, lima beans, kidney beans, and lentils may be baked or used in soup as meat alternatives.

BETTER POTATO GRADING HELPS SATISFY BUYERS

Pennsylvania potato growers have a good chance this year to put on the market an attractive and satisfactory grade which will create favorable sentiment and demand. During recent years many crops were so full of badly misshapen and growth cracked tubers that it was often impractical to attempt to grade them to market standards. Consequently, they went on the market ungraded and made a poor showing beside well-shaped and well-graded stock from competing states.

Pennsylvania cannot afford to acquire a reputation for potatoes which are unsightly, ungraded and undesirable from the market and consumers standpoint. Undesirable stock, must always be sold at a discount, and in surplus years it may be very hard to sell at any price. It is very easy to get a reputation for poor, or poorly graded stock and exceedingly hard to overcome or live-down such a reputation.

Most counties in the state have relatively good appearing stock this year. A little attention given to the removal of seriously sunburned, scabby, cut, bruised or worm-damaged tubers, as they go over the grader, will mean better satisfied buyers and will make both retailer and consumer look with more favor on Pennsylvania potatoes.

In sections where the crop was blighted this year, there will be late blight rot in the tubers. This is serious and of course must all come out because grade standards specify that there should not be over one per cent of any sort of rot. Blight rot is often hard to detect in its early stages. It may show up only as darker, sunken areas which are brown when cut.

Blight rot is very apt to continue developing after the tubers are dug and stored, especially if the storage is damp and poorly ventilated. If the potatoes are to be stored it is important to remove all possible tubers in which blight rot may develop. Grading potatoes before storing them also removes the small tubers and much of the dirt, resulting in better airation of the bin or pile and consequent better keeping.

In deciding whether or not to discard a tuber remember that anything which mars the appearance or which will cause waste of time or waste of potato in preparation for consumption had best be out of well-graded stock. There is usually a cheap local market which is glad to take the discards off the growers hands or they can be fed to livestock or poultry.

MINISTER DIES

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., Dec. 6—Rev. Edwin J. Vanlare, pastor of the Tionesta and Marienville Presbyterian churches, died in a hospital today after a brief illness.

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

Copyright, 1935, Central Press Association.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Jimmy Durante of the fabulous beak is a surprisingly homespun character out of makeup. Schooled in the Broadway night-club world of prohibition days—as rigorous an academy as the imagination could devise—he retains a boyish and touching naivete.

Jimmy's father is a barber in Brooklyn and the relationship between the two is said by intimates to be one of the finest and least spoiled in showbusiness. Despite a son whose salary runs to figures which seem astronomical to the ordinary wage-earner, the elder Durante has never abandoned his shears and razor or allowed Jimmy's generosities to affect a lifelong habit of thrift and work.

During the rehearsals of "Jumbo," Durante pere dropped in one afternoon to see Jimmy go through his paces. He sat in the dark vastness of the Hippodrome until the show had been completely rehearsed. Then he slipped out and returned in a few minutes with a small paper bag.

In the bag was a five-cent cigar, which he presented feelingly to his son with felicitations for success.

Students of the American mind may get a chapter for future books out of the odd shift, during the past couple of decades, in our ideas of beauty in women.

It is a far cry from the gingham simplicity of the early Mary Pickford to the girls who currently represent lovelines. A startling number of today's beauties have a marked Oriental cast to their features.

There is Myrna Loy, whoes Eastern expression suited her to Chinese roles in early films she made. Merle Obregon carries the vague aura of almond-eyes and bead curtains tinkling gently on the other side of the world. Mary Taylor, a Social Registerite who poses for commercial photographers as a typical American beauty, has about her a sloe-eyed, almost indefiniable suggestion of the Orient.

And the two girls men are sighing about most rapturously these days are a couple of native South Sea Island lasses who appear in "Mutiny on the Bounty"!

* * *

Observation in passing: George Abbott, the tall, slim, white-thatched theatrical producer, seems to be the only big-time representative of that strange profession who can be truly said to possess poise.

* * *

"If you are interested in curious careers," writes a correspondent in Brooklyn, "let me call your attention to the case of Will Henry, an actor now appearing in 'How Beautiful With Shoes' on Broadway. I am not Mr. Henry's press-agent, but I think your readers may be interested in how some actors get that way.

"Henry was studying medicine at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore. He was in sight of his degree. Suddenly he went to Kansas and joined a theatrical stock company. He doesn't know why he did it; just did.

"Then he got a chance to be a radio announcer in Pittsburgh, where he stayed several years and acted in hundreds of dramatic skits for the air waves. Tiring of that, he moved successively from Baltimore to Washington to Denver to appear in stock.

"Suddenly he quit and on impulse got a job as seaman on a tramp steamer bound for China. He scrubbed decks for a year and again on impulse went to Ivorytown, Conn., to act in the summer theater there—and a Broadway scout saw him.

"Why is it that actors' careers always sound random and haphazard like that?"

Confesses Hold-up Story Was Faked

(International News Service)

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Dec. 6.—While police spread a dragnet throughout Western Pennsylvania and Ohio for his reported assailants, Delbert Emerick confessed he fabricated the holdup story to cover up $48 of family tax money he spent on girls, according to State patrolmen.

Emerick, 53-year-old New Sewickley resident, calmly admitted to police who had been feverishly searching for two men he accused of "robbing" him, that he spent most of the money in a beer garden on drinks for girls during a "whoopee" spree.

Future news item: Mrs. Jones resented the conduct of Mr. Jones and did not shoot him.

4 Cruise World In 4-Ton Yacht

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 6.—Four young Russians have left Shanghai in an attempt to circumnavigate the globe in a four-ton yacht. They are—

Captain S. E. Kryloff, aged 53, and Messrs. V. C. Sokoloff, 27, P. O. Hloodneff, 22, and A. A. Zileff, 24.

Captain Kryloff, a former master mariner of the Russian mercantile marine, is the only experienced sailor among them.

The yacht, aptly named Mosquito, is 24 feet long.

The adventurers intend to sail first to Australia by way of Hongkong, Borneo, Sumatra and Java, and thence either to South America or South Africa.

Only sails will be used in the navigation of the vessel, which has no auxiliary engine. The trip is expected to last a year.

The men hope to earn their way round the world. Captain Kryloff is an expert shoemaker, Sokoloff an artist, Zileff a wireless operator and Hloodneff a fireman.

Charge Directors Violating Trust

Stockholders Do Not Approve Action In Registering With S. E. C.

(International News Service)

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 6.—Directors of Central Public Utility corporation and its subsidiary, the Consolidated Electric and Gas company, today were accused in U. S. district court here of violating a trust in deciding to register with the SEC under the Public Utility Holding company act of 1935.

The plaintiffs, stockholders in the defendant companies, urged the court to declare the holding company act unconstitutional and enjoin the directors of the defendant companies from registering.

Charging the directors have refused to reconsider their resolution to comply with the act, the plaintiffs alleged "The board of directors are afraid of antagonizing the public officials . . . also fear the penalties for failure to register."

WHAT'S HAPPENED TO SHORTENING PRICES?

SOMETHING'S been happening to shortening prices! Ask your dealer about it. Ask him the prices of Crisco—and other cooking fats.

You'll find that most shortenings now cost much more than they did a year ago. But that's not true with Crisco. It hasn't gone up like that. Today there is very little difference between the prices of Crisco and ordinary cooking fats.

Think what that means!

It means that—at present prices—it's economical to buy pure wholesome Crisco — and no other shortening. It means you can use Crisco for all baking and frying.

And when you use Crisco — the healthful all-purpose shortening, your family can enjoy your cooking at its best—light flaky pies, crisp fried foods, feathery cakes. For Crisco is made only of the purest vegetable oils—creamed and creamed into pure, sweet, fluffy shortening.

Buy a big 3-lb. can of Crisco today!

Venezuela Looking Over Possible Successors To World's Oldest Dictator

CARACAS, Venezuela—What will happen to Venezuela when General Gomez, president of the country and the oldest dictator in the world, dies or decides to resign?

This is the question that Venezuelans have been asking since celebration of the 76th birthday of their president, who has ruled over the country—four times the size of the British Isles—for 27 years.

With the country plunged into one or more of those perennial revolts that were the order of the day in Venezuela before Gomez took over the reins of office?

Or can the change be effected peaceably?

The question is one of importance to Americans whose investments in Venezuela, mainly in oil, total many millions.

It is the opinion of many that as soon as the dictator is out of the way, it will be the signal for all his political opponents who have driven into exile, to return and demand power.

In the general's 27 years of rule Venezuela has enjoyed internal and external peace.

The constitution provides that a new president shall be elected at a joint special session of the two chambers of the congress and a majority vote shall decide the choice.

A new president has already been elected once during General Gomez's period of power—in 1929—and peaceably.

Then the general's term of office expired and though congress voted him another term he declined it. At his suggestion Dr. Juan Bautista Perez was elected president, while General Gomez was created commander-in-chief of the navy, army and air force.

Two years later, however, Dr. Perez resigned and General Gomez resumed the presidency.

There are military men who have had political experience as governors of the autonomous states which compose Venezuela, rated as capable of succeeding Gomez.

These include General Rafael M. Velazoo Contreras, minister for war and for many years head of the army.

There is also General Santos Matute Gomez, president of the Central State of Caraboro and a half-brother of President Gomez, and Dr. Jose Gil Fortoul, a well-known lawyer, who has been president of the congress and during President Gomez's absence from the capital in 1913 was acting president of the republic.

There are several other competent and popular candidates and one suggestion is that the president might name one as his successor in his will.

In either of these cases, it is agreed, the man General Gomez should indicate would undoubtedly be chosen by congress.

But there still remain hovering beyond Venezuela's frontiers thousands of deported men who continue to enjoy public esteem. Their only offense has been to oppose the autocratic rule of a dictator.

They are living now mostly in Jamaica, Curacao, Colombia and Panama.

They are living now mostly in vacancy to return to their country—in peace or in war.

Meanwhile, General Gomez enjoys excellent health and is a regular attendant at cock-fights. Unique among the dictators he enjoys life, roaming his country without bodyguards.

Waits 36 Years To Wed Girl Of His Choice

(International News Service)

LONDON—Thirty six years ago Matthew Storey, who was living at Bishop Auckland, proposed to Miss Frances Jane Clayton of the same town.

They were both deeply in love.

They have just been married at Sleekburn Parish Church.

The sprightly figure of the lover of 36 years ago is a little less sprightly at 70; his hair has turned grey.

And time has taken the best years of the bride of 64.

Here is the story.

"When Mr. Storey proposed to me I was 28," Miss Clayton said. "He was an insurance agent, and I lived in Bishop Auckland.

"I loved him, but I said no because:

"I was bound by a promise made to my dying mother that I would look after father so long as he lived."

Storey went to Canada. He became a successful estate agent.

Miss Clayton true to her promise, remained at home.

A few weeks ago her father died—still cared for by his daughter.

The news went to Canada—and the suitor of 1899 returned to claim his bride.

AROUND CITY HALL

Fire Chief James E. Thomas stated today that within the near future he proposes to put all city paid firemen through a gas mask drill so that in the event of a fire and there arises a necessity for firemen to wear gas masks each fireman will know how to use them.

Council did not meet yesterday afternoon on the budget. However, A. A. Hoyland, J. L. Fink and Earl Wimer did considerable figuring and it is likely that sometime this afternoon the council and the men elected in November will give the task another whirl.

Fire Chief James E. Thomas made a good move when he ordered firemen to inspect cellars. According to some of the inspectors they found most cellars in the business district in fair condition. Some had what the firemen considered to be fire hazards and these will be remedied.

In estimating the expense of the city treasurer's office for next year the council figures that collectors of delinquent taxes should get $6 a day for outside work and when they are employed in the office $4 a day. The outside workers must use automobiles, it was explained.

Plane Routes Over Atlantic Are Discussed

(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Two routes to be followed in the projected trans-Atlantic air service, which will link the United States with Europe, were discussed at the opening conference between high ranking British, Irish, Canadian and American air officials, Thursday.

One of these routes would be by way of New York, Bermuda, the Azores, and Spain or Portugal. The other would be by way of Newfoundland, and across the North Atlantic to Ireland.

The New York-Bermuda-Azores route is favored by the British as likely to be more feasible for year-round service. It is felt the northern route would be unfeasible during the winter months.

The association numbers among its members people of all races, creeds and religious beliefs.

An office has been opened at 514 South Jefferson street where all relief and grievance cases will be taken care of. At the next meeting of the organization, the be held tonight in Savoy hall, the question of hauling men to work in open trucks, in freezing weather, for 10 or 12 miles will be discussed.

Steen And Postoffice Force Are Preparing For Holiday Business

Loads in the mail bags of New Castle's postmen daily are growing heavier and the waiting lines of patrons in front of the post office parcels and stamps windows are growing longer as another Christmas season looms with a promise of bringing with it one of the weightiest mailing volumes since the peak seasons of 1927 and 1928.

At the new post office, Postmaster Richard A. Steen and his force, with their one-time worries of crowded quarters forgotten, announced "in readiness" their arrangements to handle a rush.

Rush Days Awaited

"When the flood of mail comes," Steen declared, "the office will be prepared to do a good job."

The postmaster, who, with his mailing aides, has worked out plans for coping with the annual holiday increase, said today that he doesn't expect the "real rush" to be noticeable until December 15 or thereabouts. But if it comes earlier, as it does sometimes, the force will be prepared for it.

Open for almost a year, the modern post office on the diamond affords the energetic staff which dispatches Uncle Sam's mails here ample space for their big job of receiving and stamping and delivering the thousands of holiday parcels and cards which deluge the office during the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

May Have 32 Extras

The office, the postmaster reported, has been authorized to employ 32 extra workers and most of them will probably go to work sometime after December 15. All of the 32 extras are men with dependents or men eligible for other reasons.

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 percent, Mr. Steen reminded, and it is a physical impossibility to handle this great mass of mail matter efficiently and promptly within a few days. The public's cooperation in "mailing early" was again asked.

"Everyone knows by now," the postmaster said, "that it is to their own advantage to mail Christmas gifts before the big rush starts. While it does help the postal force, it helps, above all, the senders of packages for they can feel their gifts will be delivered."

The office particularly warned about special wrapping for fragile articles or other articles requiring special care.

"Mark fragile in big, bold letters on every fragile package," Mr. Steen suggested. "That pays, too."

Foreign Mail Moving

Merchandise for foreign cities is now moving out of the local office and to reach distant cities should be mailed soon.

Valuable domestic third and fourth-class mail should be insured, the office pointed out. Window clerks will provide the public with necessary information.

This Christmas season is the first in several years that a postmaster here has not been forced to find additional space for part of the post office force.

"We have the room here, thank goodness," was the comment Mr. Steen had when that subject came up.

The post-office sub-station in the New Castle Dry Goods store will probably feel a sharp increase in its business within the next few days, postal officials said. Many patrons are using it.

Full Holiday Christmas

Christmas Day itself will be a holiday—a welcome one, no doubt—for the post office staff and special emphasis is being placed on this fact in order that all Christmas gifts might be in the mails before the Christmas holiday.

Throughout New Castle parcel post trucks will be circulating with larger loads within the next few days, and, as the gift loads grow heavier, the men who man the trucks will be augmented by helpers.

On Sunday, December 15 the post office building will have been in service one full year. It was dedicated and placed into formal service on that date in 1934.

TAKES CARE OF SCHOOL 50 YEARS

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6.—William C. McCracken has started his 50th year as a superintendent of buildings and grounds at Ohio State university. Since 1886 he has been making the wheels go around at the state's largest educational institution. Four Ohio State presidents have called him "Mac".

In the old days he bore the title of chief engineer and head janitor. In that capacity he always had his hat on, ready to rush out to answer any call. The habit still persists.

SAYS CRIMINALS LACK EDUCATION

(International News Service)

URBANA, O., Dec. 6.—Most inmates of the Ohio prison farm at London are criminals because they "lack education and opportunity," Supt. T. C. Jenkins told a group of local businessmen. "Reform, education and rehabilitation," are the aims of the institution for its 1500 inmates, Jenkins said.

Secretary Hull Cautious In Message To Japan

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A definite determination to avoid being maneuvered into the position of pulling other nations' chestnuts out of oriental fires was responsible for the mildness of Secretary of State Cordell Hull's latest declaration calling Japan to task for its activities in north China.

Secretary Hull indirectly reminded Japan once again that it was disregarding the sanctity of treaties to which this nation is a party in its efforts to extend control over China.

His statement, made in response to inquiries by press correspondents, was one of the most cautious as well as the mildest declarations this government has made in connection with its position that Japan's activities in China constitute an outright violation of the nine-power Pacific pact, guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China and the "open door" policy of equal opportunity for all nations trading with China.

Hull reiterated that "unusual developments in any part of China are rightfully and necessarily of concern not alone to the government and people of China, but to all of the many powers which have interests in China."

Hull's Statement.

Calling attention to the fact American nationals have considerable interests in North China and that the United States is a party to treaty rights there, he said:

"As I have stated on many occasions, it seems to this government most important in this period of worldwide political unrest and economic instability that governments and peoples keep faith in principles and pledges. In international relations there must be agreements and respect for agreements in order that there may be confidence and stability and sense of security which are essential to orderly life and progress."

These remarks were far short of the sharp language used in the American note to the Japanese government a year ago last April, when Tokyo was notified this government would not recognize Japan's right to "make conclusive its will in situations where they are involved the rights, the obligations and the legitimate interests of other sovereign powers."

Although the questions concerning this government's attitude toward Japan's activities in north China were put to Hull nearly a week ago, he waited until Tokyo had replied to the British move calling Japan's attention's to its obligations, and requesting a clarification of its intentions, before replying to them.

This was in accord with the determination of this government to refrain from taking the initiative in attempting to check Japan in Asia.

Important Liquor Tax Ruling Sought

State Of Pennsylvania Files Appeal In Supreme Court

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. — The State of Pennsylvania, in an appeal filed in the supreme court today, challenged the power of congress to impose liquor taxes on the state monopoly liquor control system.

The issues involved in the case may affect the State of Ohio and other states which sell liquor.

The state appealed from the third circuit court at Philadelphia after unsuccessfully attempting to enjoin collection of taxes by the federal government, The case involves floor taxes on liquor held in the state warehouses, and taxes on the state retail stores.

Attorney General Charles A. Margiotti of Pennsylvania, pointed out that profits from the liquor system are appropriated for old age systems, pensions for the blind, and unemployment relief. He asserted that the federal government is in effect taxing a sovereign state of the union and that this is unconstitutional.

Attorney General Margiotti recalled the court's decision refusing to permit the State of Ohio to file an original suit to enjoin collection of federal taxes against Ohio liquor stores.

The court, in deciding the case, he said, did not consider the effect of the repeal amendment on a previous decision in a South Carolina case, which was taken as the basis for the decision in the Ohio appeal.

"In addition," he said, "the Ohio decision does not indicate whether the profits realized by Ohio from the operation of a monopoly store system were used for governmental purposes, and this feature does not appear to have been considered by this court."

Unlike Ohio, which came directly to the high court, the State of Pennsylvania came through a lower federal court.

The Pennsylvania brief also asserted that the high court did not consider the floor tax provision in the Ohio case. Thus a decision in the Pennsylvania case may also vitally affect the situation in Ohio.

Earnest citizens are funny. They worry about the falling birth rate and worry some more because people on relief have more babies.

Bids Are Opened For Car To Be Used By Sheriff

County commissioners this morning opened bids for a new automobile for the use of the sheriff. There were eleven firms submitting bids. In each case the firm bidding gave the price of the car to be furnished and the amount that would be allowed for the sheriff's old car. There was not much difference in the price that would be allowed for the old car, running around $350, but there was considerable difference in the amount that the county would have to pay between the old and a new car. The commissioners are checking over the bids to determine the best proposition.

Smithy Recalls Olden Rush Days At Shop When Streets Got Icy

Twenty years ago in Lawrence County, when the streets were icy and treacherous, as they are today, Isaac Ginsburg of 1007 Pollock avenue, the oldest blacksmith in the city, was probably the busiest man in the city

In his little shop, which is hidden back in an alley, off Moravia street, the South Side 'smithy, bent over with years of toil, tossed aside a huge hammer, told a News man today how times have changed.

As he reminisced 20 years back, Mr. Ginsburg wore an expression of contentment. When asked about today's business, he just dropped the smile and shook his head.

During this time of the year, 20 years ago, Mr. Ginsburg worked incessantly from 4 o'clock in the morning until 12 o'clock, re-shoeing and sharpening shoes for horses belonging to Lawrence county residents. He received $7 for his work on each horse. But now, Mr. Ginsburg stated, it is really an event when a horse is brought in to have its shoes sharpened for the winter weather. With the icy weather which has prevailed during the past few days, only two horses have been brought into the shop of the South Side 'smithy for "repair work".

Despite the fact that times have changed, and his compensation is rather small, Mr. Ginsburg is faithful to his business.

Mr. Ginsburg is in his sixties and enjoys his work very much, he stated. He has been a blacksmith for 42 years.

Husband's Joke Must Have Been Very Stale

(International News Service)

VICTORIA, B. C.—Two months ago here a woman listened to a joke cracked by her husband. She laughed. Then her laughter turned to yawns. And she has been yawning ever since. . . This is the predicament of Mrs. P. E. Wakelin, 42-year-old mother of three children. She has been to the hospital twice since the day upon which her husband, a taxi-driver, told his unfortunate joke but doctors haven't been able to stop her yawns.

Discussing the new potato law, a prominent attorney said today that a supreme court decision wouldn't likely be needed to render the act obsolete if everybody who owns a lot would plant it in potatoes. The potato act is different from the cotton, wheat and corn processing acts in that a grower cannot consume all of his crops of the latter, while he could consume his potatoes.

There are six districts in the county in which there is no delinquent state tax for 1935, according to the report of County Treasurer William O. Pitts. These are Ellport, Enon, Bessemer, Little Beaver, Perry and Plaingrove townships. All of these, however, have delinquent county and poor taxes. The state tax is levied on money at interest on mortgages, notes, agreements and other evidences of debt.

The grand jury which was in session this week acted on 22 bills of which 21 were returned true bills and one not a true bill. After completing their work with the bills the jury visited the different offices in the court house and the county jail. The only recommendation that they made was that a fireproof vault be built either under or at the side of the court house for the storage of valuable records. Several grand juries have made a similar recommendation, but nothing is ever done about it.

Sad Story Of An Attempt To Reduce

(International News Service)

NEEDHAM, Mass.—Frank S. Davis, manager of the marine department of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, wanted to get rid of some extra poundage and accomplish something useful at one and the same time.

He decided to build a fish pool at his home. He spent weeks in toil, mixing and pouring cement, digging and doing whatever else was necessary.

He stocked the pool with an elatorate collection of fish and went directly to the scales. He had gained two pounds.

Seeks Bar On Radios In Autos As Safety Menace

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS—The proposal to prohibit use of radios in automobiles within the city limits has aroused a controversy here.

Alderman John J. O'Connor, who made the suggestion, says he expects "plenty of heat" because of his stand, but is "convinced that auto radios constitute a hazard to public safety."

Major Albert Bond Lambert, police commissioner, has indorsed the anti-radio proposal.

And the laundry is especially hard on linen that has been used to wipe razor blades.

Trapped Miner Writes Of Love As Death Comes

Writing In Agony Man Scrawls Last Message To Sweetheart

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 6.—On a carefully preserved piece of crumbling blue stone is written the world's most beautiful and poignant love-note and all the money in the world could not buy it.

Even grim Death stayed its hand awhile before mercifully taking into its shadow a doomed miner, who, writhing in agony in the darkness of a gas-filled chamber six hundred feet below surface, scrawled a last farewell to his wife, pitifully waiting at the pithead.

Search parties, stumbling among the carnage caused by an explosion in the North Gawber Colliery, near Barnsley, came across the body of Albert Edward Ibberson, horribly burned, hugging his death-note.

Bending to pick up the body one of the men noticed the message on the piece of stone—just four words that gleamed in the flickering light of the lamps and gripped the hearts of the men as they traced the message:

"Farewell, Fanny old Pet. x x x."

There were marks on the stone where his burned hands had rested while he scrawled the four tragic little words and the crosses for kisses before he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Mrs. Ibberson broke down when told of her husband's message:

"We were everything to one another," she said. "It was just like him—to think of me when he knew there was no chance of his coming back.

"He would not have time for much—and 'Old Pet' was a term he used throughout our four years of married life. He knew it would help me bear this trouble a little. We were so happy."

The stone has been left in the sealed death-chamber in the depths of the earth but a photograph clearly showing the message has been given to Mrs. Ibberson.

This Cough Drop is Modern Successor to Old-Time Syrups

More Convenient—Much More Economical — Longer Lasting in Throat.

Ever since Vicks VapoRub was introduced, millions have used it as they would a cough drop, by melting a little on the tongue. Now—in Vicks Medicated Cough Drop—time-tested, throat-soothing ingredients of Vicks VapoRub are available, in pleasant and convenient candy form.

Dissolving naturally in the mouth, a handy Vicks Cough Drop applies direct medication to irritated membranes of the throat for from 12 to 15 minutes—at a cost of less than half a cent.

Less expensive, more convenient, and longer-lasting in effect, no wonder Vicks Medicated Cough Drop has become the modern successor to old-fashioned cough syrups.

Additional Seals Can Be Procured At Local Office

Demand For Little Health Stickers Is Noted As Christmas Draws Near

With Christmas drawing near and many people getting their Christmas cards ready for mailing, there has been a demand for additional Christmas seals, which are distributed by the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society, chairman Al Owens, of The Townsmen, who are sponsoring the sale stated today.

These seals may be procured by calling in person at the office of the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society, 17½ South Mercer street, above the City Rescue Mission. The society has a sufficient number of seals on hand to supply any additional demand which may be made upon them.

Those who received the Christmas seals in the mail are asked to remember that their contribution for these little health stickers will be used to combat the spread of tuberculosis, and that the bulk of the money will be used for this work right here in Lawrence county.

Persons who did not receive seals through the mail, due to some oversight, may be able to secure a plentiful supply at the office on South Mercer street.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

Years ago, long before most of the "cover to cover" readers of this paper were born, the navy celebrated Christmas in what is now widely known as "the grand manner". Today, realizing as of old that Christmas is primarily the children's holiday, the navy, ashore and afloat, plays Santa Claus to thousands of homeless and orphaned youngsters. According to our friend Mr. Oldtimer, the custom of holding Santa Claus parties aboard navy ships was begun by the bluejackets of the U. S. S. New Yoork when the ship was in the Brooklyn Navy Yards for overhaul.

On Christmas morning several years before we entered the World War some bluejackets left the ship and headed for Sands street and coralled about a hundred of the hungriest and most threadbare kids they could find. They escorted them to the ship and shared their turkey dinner and showered them with presents. Since that time, our ships do the job in such regal style that the Sunday papers devote pages in telling about it. It is now customary, aboard battleships, to get about 200 needy children each year and outfit them from the shoes up, including underclothes.

In addition to the clothing, each child receives a packages that contains toys etc. selected for that particular child. Bluejackets call for the children at their homes or at the orphanage and return them in the evening, tired but happy. Such is Christmas day on every ship and station throughout the navy.

Recalls Quick Wit Of Rogers

Nicholas Murray Butler Tells How Rogers Made Wit Fit The Occasion

CAMPAIGN IS NEARING CLOSE

By NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER
President of Columbia University

Will Rogers and I were great friends for many years and I could tell all sorts of anecdotes illustrative of his human qualities and his sense of humor. Here is one:

Shortly before the November election of 1930, I went with a small group of friends to one of the theatres where Will Rogers was to give a characteristic performance as part of the program. His eyes lighted up on me and he at once gave a most vigorous wink. I clenched my fist and shook it at him as a warning to turn his wit in some other direction. Pretty soon he winked again and then I know we should not have long to wait. Then followed this from Will Rogers:

"There's a great friend of mine down there. I'm very fond of him. He's an awful nice fella. I first met him out in Oklahoma. You wouldn't think he'd ever been out in that country, but he has. I wish I could do something for him 'cause he's in awful trouble. But I can't think how to help him. There's terrible opposition to his reelection as Senator from Massachusetts because of the unpopularity he's stirred up by enforcin' the Prohibition Law in Philadelphia."

This was all he said. No name was mentioned. But as William M. Butler was a candidate for the Senate in Massachusetts and as Smedley D. Butler was filling the newspapers with ejaculations from Philadelphia, nothing more was needed.

Those wishing to contribute to the Rogers Memorials are warned that only another week remains. Contributions may be sent to Chairman Fred L. Rentz, at the office of The News Company, or given to any officer of the Lions, Kiwanis, Rotary Clubs, or Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Says Present Policies Doom United States

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Warning that continuation of the government's social and economic policies may destroy American democracy and with it western civilization, S. Wells Utley, president of the Detroit Steel Casting Company, Thursday called on American business to repudiate those policies and "go to the country" on that issue.

In an impassioned address to the closing session of the National Manufacturers Association convention, Utley warned:

"If the United States succumbs . . . it is inevitable that the civilization of the modern world will crumble on her ruins."

In all the world, he told the manufacturers, only "the thin fringe of countries facing the Atlantic" today are under governments believing in "the freedom of the individual man . . . the principles of the Christian religion."

Let those nations succumb to the rising tide of undemocratic governmental forms, he declared, and occidental civilization is doomed.

Start Hunt For Paul Redfern In Guiana Jungles

(International News Service)

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Dec. 6.—Two American airplane pilots and a wealthy British Guiana timber operator arrived in Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, Thursday on the first leg of an airplane expedition to search for Paul Redfern, Georgia aviator missing for eight years after disappearing over the dense Dutch Guiana jungles.

Using an amphibian plane on the first expedition of its kind to locate the long lost flyer, the trio were determined to investigate thoroughly recent oft-repeated reports that Redfern was alive but crippled, living wtih Indians far in the interior of Dutch Guiana.

The three were A. J. Art Williams, American operating an internal air service in British Guiana; Edward Sill, the timber operator, and Harry Wendt, American and co-pilot of the expedition. Williams and Sill are sponsoring the expedition on which they left here Wednesday.

Health Conditions About Stationary First Six Months

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6—While general health conditions in Pennsylvania remained about stationary in the first six months of 1935 compared with the corresponding periods of the preceding two years, a new low diphtheria record was established in the state during 1934, the Department of Health revealed today in its semi-annual survey.

The number of diphtheria cases and deaths reported as a result of the disease were lower in 1934 than in any previous year of registration, it was shown. A decline in the case rate from a high of 236.2 per 100,000 population in 1921 to 26.4 in 1934 was reported.

The health survey for the first six months of 1935 revealed a total of 79,878 live births and a rate of 16.4 (per 100,000 population) for the first half of the year. The rate, the same as that in 1933, compared with a 15.9 figure for 1934. A total of 57,681 deaths were reported for the period, compared with 58,079 in the 1934 period.

Need New Taxes For AAA Support

Secretary Of Agriculture Wallace Delivers Speech At Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The nation is faced with the prospect of new or increased taxes to keep the Agricultural Adjustment Administration alive.

Speaking at the international live stock exposition here, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace declared his department was preparing new tax levies—a sales tax or increased income taxes—to be substituted for the processing tax now levied on many agricultural products, to keep the spirit of the AAA alive in the event the supreme court declares it unconstitutional.

Need Is Stressed.

He said he does not favor the proposed compulsory marketing plan.

Declaring that he wanted to avoid "even seeming to anticipate what the decision of the high court may be," Wallace admitted the administration is considering ways and means to give mortality to the ghost of the AAA in the event the court declares the act unconstitutional.

"I am convinced," he said, "that whatever party is in power in the government in the future something of this kind will be perpetuated because it is necessary if we are to give agriculture a parity with industry.

"I feel the AAA has accomplished its purpose," he continued, "though the situation is still complicated by the drouth of 1934."

He said the drouth forced the AAA program into action too quickly, and blamed it for the high cost of living and particularly for high meat prices.

Public Housing Program Drafted

Housing Experts From Administration Assist Senator Wagner

HOPE TO WIPE OUT SLUM DISTRICTS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—A billion-dollar low-rent public housing and slum clearance program was being drafted today by Senator Robert F. Wagner (D) of New York, in collaboration with housing experts from the administration.

Wagner planned to introduce the measure soon as congress convenes. He hopes for its prompt enactment, with the support of President Roosevelt.

Wipe Out Slums

The measure would be designed to wipe out slums in the larger cities and to provide low-rent housing projects in smaller cities. The plan may be modeled somewhat like projects reported to have proved a success in England and Germany.

Present indications are Wagner will propose creation of a new federal housing authority, probably in the Interior Department, with widespread power to administer a billion dollar housing fund. Its first purpose would be to encourage and assist, financially or otherwise, local public-housing bodies in the construction of low-rent housing projects. Loans may be authorized up to 30 per cent of the total cost of such projects, with the government charging as low an interest rate as it has to pay on its own bonds.

In cities or areas, where local bodies are unwilling or unable to take charge of such projects, the new federal body may be authorized to construct its own projects. In such instances, one of the primary purposes would be to construct either small homes or large apartments, which could be rented at the low rates now paid by occupants of slum dwellings.

Federal Subsidy

Wagner admitted his program, in effect, would constitute a federal subsidy to low-paid workers.

"I hope to sponsor a bill, providing for co-ordination between the federal and local governments in constructing low-rent housing projects," said Wagner. "My idea is to allow for various standards of living—small homes in one locality, large apartments in another.

"I do not contemplate construction of homes for the middle and better classes. I plan merely the elimination of slums in large cities and the provision of decent homes for the poor in smaller cities.

"Ife we want to wipe out the slum we must take care of the groups of people who earn so little they cannot pay the rents required by private owners. I believe we should look after these people, just as we provide free parks, free hospitals and free public libraries for those who cannot provide themselves with these blessings of life."

Report 400 Killed In Battle Raging Near Makale

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A Reuter dispatch from Paris today said 400 men were reported killed in a battle raging in the Dolo region near Makale on the northern Ethiopian front, according to dispatches from Addis Ababa to the French capital.

Dolo is situated about 20 miles east of Makale, a strategic point which the Italian forces captured in the early stages of the war.

The report that the battle is raging so close to Makale indicated the Ethiopians have launched a serious counter-movement in the north.

Mayor Orders List Of Eligibles For Police Force

Tells Civil Service Board To Provide List By Monday Or Resign Jobs

Mayor Charles B. Mayne today instructed City Clerk C. Ed Brown to request the Civil Service commission for police to furnish him by Monday with a list of eligible policemen and in event that they cannot fulfill their duties to resign their positions.

The mayor informed Brown that some time ago city council asked the commission to provide a list of eligibles. The mayor added that two weeks have elapsed since the request was made.

The police department has been below quota owing to various causes and with the Christmas holiday season ushered in he believes more protection is necessary.

The note quoted witnesses, including foreign doctors and foreign newspaper correspondents, to the effect that Italian airplanes bombed the American hospital at Dessye.

Consider Plans To Avoid Session

Governor And Earle Ponder State Problems Of Financial Nature

WASHINGTON ONLY HOPE IN SITUATION

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6. — The Earle administration looked toward Washington again today in what was understood to be a desperate effort to avoid calling a special session of the legislature early in 1936.

Throughout a long day and most of the night, his "workaday" 45th birthday, Gov. George H. Earle conferred here yesterday with cabinet members and party leaders on possible means of meeting the relief and social security issues without restoring the costly method of an extraordinary meeting of the General Assembly.

And although the discussion went on behind closed doors in the executive offices and at the mansion, it was learned the administration had contacted federal authorities in Washington to ascertain what chance there might be of amending the federal security act to preserve Pennsylvania's share in its benefits without passing new legislation before 1937.

Question Involved

The question involved particularly the unemployment insurance provisions of the federal measure. Under that act, Pennsylvania employers begin payment of unemployment insurance taxes in 1936. But unless the state's laws on the subject conform in detail with the federal act, the Keystone state's payroll levies will be lost entirely to other states. With its own enabling act, Pennsylvania would be entitled to keep 90 per cent of the tax.

The amendment to the federal act suggested, it was understood, would make the 90 per cent Pennsylvania tax credit retroactive until the state legislation could be adopted at the next regular session in 1937.

In face of the governor's own announcement of a special session several weeks ago and Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's opinion that it was inevitable for social security legislation, the new development was not viewed too seriously by political observers.

Must Provide Relief Funds

It was pointed out there still remained the important matter of providing relief funds, if such be necessary, for the balance of the fiscal year and the second half of the biennium. While the current plan for having local communities take over a "fair share" of the relief load after January 1 would lessen the state's financial responsibility, it was felt some future state provision might be nesessary as a "safeguard."

Governor Earle has expressed, time after time, his hope that a special session might be avoided. The session would cost approximately $300,000 if it ran for a month or five weeks, authorities estimate. Should the governor's call include other matters, social legislation defeated during the last regular session and the matter of constitutional amendment, the meeting might run even longer, with a commensurately increased cost.

State Business Shows Increase

Most Prosperous December Since Depression Started Is Forecast

RETAIL TRADING UNUSUALLY BRISK

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6.—The dark days of 1929 faded further into the past today as Pennsylvania entered the final month of the year with increased business activity heralding the most prosperous December since the depression.

Predicted by International News Service several weeks ago, reports from Pennsylvania's major industries that employment and trade figures continued to swell during the current week indicated the business barometer will surge to new levels by the first of the year.

Shaking off its last bit of uncertainty, the aluminum industry reflected improved conditions by putting into effect a five per cent wage increase, which will mean $1,000,000 more annually to the 5,700 workers in the Pittsburgh aluminum center.

Steel again soared to a new high with Iron Age reporting the industry operating at 57 per cent capacity, one point above last week. Although production decreased two points to 44 per cent in the Pittsburgh district, Iron Age reported the figure up one point to 41 per cent in Philadelphia and up two points in the valleys to 60 per cent.

Despite the prevailing uncertainty during the current employe-labor negotiations, the anthracite industry in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre district increased slightly while the Connellsville Courier reported the bituminous region was preparing for heavy production.

Although slightly delayed, retail trading all over the state enjoyed a brisk start for the holiday season with sales figures mounting above those for 1929.

The Bradford-Oil City petroleum sector endured a quiet, yet firm week, and electrical power declined slightly. River and rail shipments, however, increased to new highs.

Reflecting the impending European holocaust rather than uncertainty, the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh securities market became unstable after the recent "baby" boom.

Goodyear Surgeon Heard By Doctors

Dr. Conn Speaker Before Medical Society's December Meeting

Dr. Harold R. Conn, Akron, discussed "The Diagnosis of Back Ache" before the regular December meeting of the Lawrence County Medical society at The Castleton last night. Dr. Conn is the chief surgeon for the Goodyear Rubber company.

Presiding over the program was Dr. J. P. Prioletti, the society's vice president. Dr. W. L. Campbell, president, is ill.

During its business discussion the membership voted to renew its annual subscriptions' to "Hygeia," health magazine, for the Free Public library and several school libraries. Plans were also discussed for a post-graduate course for the doctors this winter.

Dr. W. A. Womer, secretary of the society, will go to Harrisburg Tuesday, December 10 for a conference of society secretaries from all over the state.

The society's annual election of officers will feature the January meeting.

Report Italian Planes Shot Down

(International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 6.—Two Italian airplanes were brought down by Ras Imeru's troops northwest of Makale during a series of bombing raids on the northern front, official Ethiopian communique said today.

There were, however, a number of Abyssinian casualties inflicted by the Italian bombers before they were brought down, the statement admitted.

Seven Italian airplanes heavily bombed other sections north of Makale, without causing any casualties.

The communique confirmed that William Robinson, Chicago negro flying for Ethiopia, had been pursued by Italian planes bombing Davak in the Lake Tsana region.

LICENSE SALE SHOWS BUSINESS IS BETTER

HARRISBURG, Dec. 6.—The receipts of the bedding and upholstery section of the Department of Labor and Industry received today by Secretary Ralph M. Bashore, are another indication that business in Pennsylvania is improving.

This bureau, at the price of one cent each, sells to wholesalers license tags to be affixed to mattresses, pillows and anything with filling material, these tags being designed to protect customers against false pretense in selling.

Miss Mary McInroy, section head, reported today to Mr. Bashore that during September and October, 1935, the tag receipts showed a 50 per cent increase over the same period last year. This year the receipts were $11,070, while last year they were $7,700 for the two months. For the first 10 months of 1935 the receipts have been more than $7,000 over the same period last year.

Court Cost Must Be Paid

Defendants In Court Trials Summoned On Thursday Afternoon

It seems that the Lawrence County court means what it says when the costs of a case are assessed against the defendant. Twenty five defendants found this out Thursday when the court held what might be termed a "cost collection court" in number one court room.

All of the twenty five had been in court on some charge or other. All of them had been ordered to pay the costs of their cases in addition to fines. The fact that they had overlooked this little matter was the cause of their being in court Thursday.

Some of them pleaded they were out of work and unable to pay. Some of them had little of an alibi except an inference that they thought perhaps the court was fooling. Some of them paid in full, others in part, others promised to pay and in one case the defendant went to jail for three months to one year.

When costs are assessed against defendants they are expected to keep in touch with the parole officer, J. M. Dunlap. If they don't, they can be expected to be called in as the group was Thursday.

As the result of yesterday's court the county coffers are enriched several hundred dollars, the court convinced the defendants it wasn't fooling, and the parole officer will probably have less trouble in the future.

Standard Oil Company Denies War Business

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey has had no "war business" with Italy, a company statement asserted today.

"When the extraordinary demand for oil in the war operations developed," the release stated, "the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, as majority owner of an old established domestic company in Italy, was in a favored position to get this business.

"As a matter of policy, we did not take it.

"With the single exception of some crude oil purchased and transported by an affiliated company and resold by it last September to a broker, the Standard Oil Company (of N. J.) has made no shipments of what might be termed war business.

"As between patriotic obligations and business opportunities, there can be no choice," the statement adds. "Despite our duty to stockholders and employes, our first loyalty is to the nation."

The American government, the statement points out, has remained strictly neutral in the Italo-Ethiopian controversy, and as a United States Corporation, "Standard of New Jersey had no right to take upon itself to find one or both nations at fault and shut off its normal supplies."

At the same time, Ja. Brown, chairman of the executive committee of the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc., said a large refinery would be contsructed by its Italian subsidiary at Naples, to be put into operation in the spring of 1937. He explained the plan developed as the result of a change in the Italian tariff in 1933, long before the outbreak Italo-Ethiopian hostilities.

55 Cows Are Sent To Alaska Pioneers

(International News Service

PORTLAND, Ore.—Shades of pioneer cows who hoofed it over deserts and mountains to provide milk for early Oregonians would probably get a bovine chuckle from the latest "pioneering" movement of cattle to the Matanuska colony in Alaska.

A herd of modern dairy cows, 55 purebred Guernsey cattle, are on their way to the new Alaskan frontier making the long journey by rail and boat and accompanied by three young Clatsop county dairymen, who were to milk the cows and keep them contented on their trip north.

The cows will be distributed among families in the colony by lot, one to a family. Dr. J. B. Loftus, extension veterinarian from the University of Alaska, at Fairbanks, who selected the herd, believes that Guernseys will prove most adaptable to the northern climate and feed.

4,000 Now Pushing Work Of Cutting Canal Across Florida To Balk Ocean

(International News Service)

OSCALA, Fla., Dec. 6.—Since President Roosevelt pushed an electric button in his Hyde Park home starting 2000 men on preliminary work of excavating for the Florida cross-state canal, a dream of three centuries has begun to approach realization at a good pace.

A canal across the northern part of Florida was first proposed by Phillip II, King of Spain in the 16th century. Heavily ladden treasure ships forced to round the peninsular, found themselves easy prey to pirates.

The idea of a canal appeared so feasible that Phillip sent an expedition manned by troops and engineers to survey a route. But the fate of that expedition and the result of its survey are lost in the dim history of those turbulent days.

Duncan U. Fletcher, now Florida's senior senator, and chairman of the important senate committee on banking and finance, may be said to be the modern father of this project. In 1908 he first advocated the construction of a canal along practically the route chosen by army engineers, and outlined the project before a meeting of a Gulf-Atlantic Waterways association.

Today more than 4,000 men are doing excavation work near here. Their pay roll is in excess of $135,000 and no wonder this little community admits being the most enterprising, active city in the United States today.

In 1933 a group of interested Florida citizens presented their plans for this canal to the administration as a PWA project. A preliminary appropriation for a survey was secured, and PWA engineers fixed the cost at approximately 119 million dollars, and selected a feasible course.

Army engineers then made the survey and estimated the canal would cost 200 million dollars.

To settle the difference President Roosevelt appointed a new board of review with members representing both the army and the PWA and an independent member. This board fixed the cost of 143 million dollars.

This new board recommended the construction of a sea-level canal, 30 feet deep, with a bottom width of 250 feet. The plan called for an excavation of 569 million cubic yards of dirt.

So far, work on the canal consists of removing surface dirt from that part of the route which does not follow existing streams, with work progressing both east and west from Ocala, headquarters of the new engineering district created to handle this work. Lieut. Col. Brehon Somervell, of Little Rock, Ark., internationally known engineer, is in charge of this phase of the work.

The Florida canal—longest in the world—will save from one to two and a half days' sailing time between New York and New Orleans and other Gulf ports.

More dirt will be excavated than was removed from the Panama Canal.

It will offer a sheltered waterway route away from the more dangerous storm zones of the South Florida cost.

An estimated $7,500,000 in transportation costs will be saved annually.

California Man Commits Suicide

(International News Service)

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Dec. 5.—A love triangle, described as a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" affair, was revealed here today with the suicide of Leslie (Ray) Raymond, 41, former Oakland radio announcer.

Leaving a lengthy note to his wife, Anne, Raymond committed suicide by inhaling poisonous monoxide fumes from the exhaust of his automobile engine.

Telling her of his affairs with "another" woman, Raymond, in his farewell message, begged his wife to "give her a break".

Vocabulary Seen Intellect Gauge

(International News Service)

BOSTON.—Words are the key to academic ability, it is believed by Dean Everett W. Lord of Boston university's college of business administration.

Each year Dean Lord gives vocabulary tests to incoming freshmen. Four years later he compares the results of the tests with the scholastic ranking of the students, —and finds a striking similarity.

The minimum vocabulary of a freshman is 8,000 words, Dean Lord said. Dean Lord contrasts that with the scant 600 deemed necessary to be able to make one-self understood.

Leonard P. Ayres, statistician and classmate of Dean Lord, estimates 95% of the American people have command of less than 1,000 words.

Westminster Students Hear Discussion Of Industrial Situation Of Today

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 6.—"Jefferson and Lincoln were great names before the industrial revolution in America, but Edison and Rockefeller are the great names of this age," Dr. William E. Wickenden, president of Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, told Westminster college students yesterday.

Dr. Wickenden suggested that perhaps the industries which replace men with machinery, thus throwing men out of employment, ought to help support those unemployed until economic readjustment takes place.

"Industrial and chemical engineers working in industry today face the paradox of often working themselves out of a job by creating machinery and efficiency systems which render their own jobs useless," Dr. Wickenden said.

A list of great men prior to 1870 and since that date were mentioned by Dr. Wickenden. Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lincoln, Lee and Grant, all men great in the political world of statesmanship before 1870, have been replaced by men great in the fields of industry and invention since that time, Edison, Bell Carnegie, Rockefeller, Westinghouse, Hill, Vanderbilt, and Ford. America was interested in geographical development and politics before 1870, Dr. Wickenden suggested, and since that time in technological improvements.

Dr. Wickenden was brought to Westminster as a part of the program to keep the campus in close contact with men and movements in the outside world.

His Alibi For Tardiness Is New

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Mass.—With a blast that would at once extinguish Diogne's lantern, cause Ananias to swoon and doubt even the redoubtable Baron Munchausen, a Braintree steel worker qualifies for the leadership of the Tall Story Club.

Reporting an hour late for work in a Boston plant, he met the boss' reproof with the following alibi:

"I started in good season, Mr. Spencer, but just as I got to the door that son of mine called me back—"

"You mean your six months old baby?" queried the employer with arched eyebrows.

"Yup, that's the one, and he's smart too. He asked me to solve a problem in fractions for him, and it was so stiff that I was an hour fighting it out."

The boss staggered away faintly ordering "get to your bench."

Lawther Gloomy Over Opening Of New Floor Year

Westminster Coach Faces Wooster Game Saturday With Misgiving

GAME TO START AT 8:45 O'CLOCK

Head Basketball Coach John D. Lawther, of Westminster Titan fame, takes his place alongside of "Gil" Dobie today. Westminster opens the 1935-36 campaign Saturday night at the Westminster College gym floor at 8:45 o'clock, meeting the fast Wooster College quintet. Lawther predicts a setback for the Towering Titans.

The outlook this year for another great Titan team is not very rosy, according to Coach Lawther. The loss of Ray Sweeney, Pete Leyshock and Wilhelm just about wrecked the chances of a winning combination. Wes Bennett and Johnnie Krivosh and Hunneke are the only three regulars from last year left on the team. Lawther is experimenting with a lot of new material and is of the opinion that Wooster will have too much for the United Presbyterians tomorrow night.

It is a possibility that Paul Backus, Jack Willits and Mike Pawk of Butler, will see plenty of action this year. Anyway, Lawther is thick in gloom and despair as the 1935-36 season is about to begin. There are 26 tough games on the card.

Bradford High May Get Bid To Play In Miami

Miami Will Pick Either Bradford, Pa., Or Elmira, N. Y. Team

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6.—Bradford (Pa.) high school, recommended by International News Service as the northern representative, received serious consideration today as the opponent of a Miami scholastic team in this city's annual Christmas Day north-south game.

Bradford, northwestern Pennsylvania football champion, is running close at the heels of Elmira, N. Y., high for the privilege of upholding northern prestige in the invitational schoolboy classic. Several other schools are also being considered.

Very Fine Record

Vic Jacobs, International News Service sports writer, brought the attention of Miami atheltic directors to Bradford and its record of being undefeated in three complete seasons, in two communications he directed to them. Should Bradford receive the invitation, it would be the second state team in as many years to participate in the post-season spectacle, Scott high of North Braddock having made a successful invasion of the south last year.

The southern representative will be chosen from between Miami Senior and Miami Edison high schools, local scholastic leaders.

Sandy Lake Will Be Played Tonight At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 6.—Following a decisive 44-21 set-back handed them by the alumni five last Friday, Coach John Eagleson's Blue and Gold New Wilmington five have been practicing hard for their battle Friday night with the strong Sandy Lake high school outfit.

Last year the local outfit defeated Sandy Lake twice, once at home and once on the Sandy Lake floor, and this year Coach Delahunty's quintet will be out for revenge.

Delahunty, a former New Wilmington high school coach and Westminster star, will bring a strong experienced team to New Wilmington Friday. The girls' teams of the two schools will play in the preliminary.

Former Negro Boxer Missing

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—New York friends of Joe Walcott, negro welterweight champion from 1901-1904, today were concerned about his whereabouts and well-being.

Walcott disappeared about six weeks ago in Mansfield, O., enroute to Hollywood, Calif., where it was hoped he would gain a notch in the movie industry. He has not been heard from since.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Cutting three strokes from par with a sharp short game, Tony Manero of Greensboro, N. C., yesterday took the upper hand for the first round of the $2,000 Orlando golf tournament with a 68 for 18 holes. He went out in 33 and came back in 35. Ky Laffoon, Roy Horan, A. B. Thom, Harry Cooper and Jimmy Thompson were turned in a card of 69.

Vanderbilt U officials today apparently were divided on the question of whether to accept an invitation to play a post-season game with Catholic U in the Orange bowl at Miami. A decision will not be made until next week.

Strangler Ed Lewis threw Sandor Szabo with a body hold at Pittsburgh last night in 33 minutes and four seconds. Tonight at Youngstown, Jim McMillan, former gridder, tackles Dr. Fred Meyers of Chicago at the Rayen-Wood auditorium. Three other bouts also will be staged.

Although Elmira, N. Y. high holds the edge for an invitation to play in Miami's annual Christmas day intersectional football game there are five or six other schools yet in the running. Among them is Bradford, Pa. A decision as to whom will get the bid will soon be made.

How Large Is Basketball?

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa. Dec. 6—Basketball men handle basketballs probobly no less than 10,000,000 times during their varsity experience yet Westminster basketball men in a questionnaire asking the weight and size of a basketball were wild in guesses.

Estimates on weight ranged from 12 ounces to two and a half pounds, and guesses on circumference were from 25 inches to 40 inches. According to the rule book, the weight of the ball should be not more than 22 ounces and not less than 20, or approximately a pound and a quarter. The circumference must not be less than 29½ inches and not more than 30 1-4 inches; and when ready for use the ball must contain 13 pounds of pressure.

During the last three years, the circumference of the ball has been decreased one inch in circumference in order to make it more convenient for passing and shooting.

East Brook Hi At Plaingrove

Coach DeWitt Emerick will take the East Brook high school girls and boys basketball teams to Plaingrove tonight for a set of games with the Plaingrove high basketeers.

The East Brookians have won three straight games this year and hope to make it four tonight. Coach Emerick will use his strongest lineup, composed of Shuller, Hall, Finnegan, Kendall and Kuth, against the Plaingrovians.

The team tied with Bellaire St. Johns 0-0 and has held these teams scoreless while running up the totals given against them: Smithfield 6, West Alexander, Pa., 39, Barnesville 32, Powhatan 38, Brilliant 34, Irondale 53, St. Clairsville 12.

Olympic Issue Splits AAU In Session Today

Two Olympic Factions Will Argue Participation Today

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—War, all the more ruthless, unafraid and unforgiving for the fact that it must sever old intimacies and resurrect old feuds, will be declared today between the irreconcilables of the two Olympic factions as the Amateur Athletic Union's annual convention gets under way, initiating three days of endless bickering and recrimination.

Friendships will be forgotten, harsh names may be called. In the end, it's probable that party lines in the control of amateur athletics will be wiped out or become so badly blurred as to be unrecognizable.

Opinions Differ

The bitterly antagonistic factions have been created over the matter of America's participation in the olympic games at Berlin next summer, those opposed basing their stand on alleged racial and religious discrimination by the Nazi government. They make their plea on the ground that this is a violation of both letter and spirit of the olympic ideal.

To go or not to go?

That, with obeisances toward the great bard, is not so much the question, as the issue. As a question it seems to have been answered in advance by the American olympic committee's official acceptance of the invitation. But the opposition, headed by "general" Jeremiah J. Mahoney, is prepared to fight on, rather than surrender. First, it will carry the war to the floor of the convention tomorrow and, if it falls there, it plans an "educational campaign," whereby schools, colleges, and amateur clubs will be urged not to participate in the games; also in the $350,000 fund that is necessary to send a team to Germany.

Miners Opposed

Meantime, the antharcite miners convention in Washington passed a resolution yesterday, condemning participation and the American federation of labor is inimical to the program, too; so that it seems evident that this isn't an issue that can be rubbed out like a misspelled word or a false and damaging assertion.

"General" Avery Brundage, of the "pro" unit, has made this quite clear with his statement that, even if the A. A. U. convention supports "General" Mahoney by vote, an American team is to be selected and sent to the Berlin games by the olympic committee, thus bringing about an impasse between the organization and the committee, with control of American amateurism the ultimate stake.

Sharon Gridders Pick Three From New Castle Team

Toscano, Engs And Crisci Named On Sharon All-Opponent Team

In a poll of the Sharon high football team New Castle high drew three places on the mythical all-opponent team. The three New Castle boys honored by the votes were Harry "Kaiser" Toscano, the lad who played a lot of end for the "Red Hurricanes" Robert "Flash" Engs, the colored speedball, and Frank "Tarzan" Crisci, a real strength on the New Castle line.

Crisci was one of the most consistent players on the team. Each week would find him out there trying hard, and he was a deadly tackler. He is big and rugged and will probably make some college a fine lineman.

The other men on the Sharon all-opponent team were: Combine and Lucas of the Sharpsville team, Finta of Warren, Purkheiser and Simione of Rayen, Hart and Cheney of Meadville. The Sharon boys ranked J. Lucas of Sharpsville the best backfield man they met all year.

White Sox Do Not Want Foxx

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 6—The Chicago White Sox don't want Jimmy Foxx at any price.

J. Louis Comisky, president of the club, nas so declared, but the declaration has failed to stop rumors that the hard-hitting first baseman of the Athletics will be or has been sold to the Sox.

"We haven't made any offer for Foxx, and don't intend to make any," Comisky declared. "We wouldn't want the grief of dealing with him."

"The Sox can get along pretty well with Zeke Bonura at first base. He's a young fellow and I'm satisfied to string along with him."

The Sox were reported to have given Connie Mack $75,000 and Bonura for Foxx.

Blackburn Is Held For Manslaughter

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Jack Blackburn, negro trainer of Joe Louis and one-time pugilistic great in his own right, and his friend William Parnell, were being held under bonds of $3000 each today, on charges of manslaughter. John Bowman, also a negro, is held on a murder charge.

The charges are the outgrowth of the slaying of a bystander and the wounding of another in a street fight between Bowman and Blackburn last October 18.

Church League Games Tonight

Three Games At Y. M. C. A. Floor In Church AA League

Three games will be played in the New Castle Church AA Basketball League at the Y. M. C. A. floor tonight. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

The Central Christians, back in the church league after an absence of a few years, will tackle the St. Nicholas team, a newcomer to church circles. This game should prove a fast one. Earl Bauman, Freddy McClure, Bill Wallace and Dave Vago are the stars on the Christian team. The St. Nicks will have the Polenick boys, Teplica and others of high school fame.

Expect Fast Games

The Tifereth Israel team will battle the Epworth M. E. team and the East Siders will be rarin' to go tonight after dropping to the famous St. Michaels team last week. The Jewish boys have their old lineup back and may make it tough for the Epworths.

Sacred Hearts will meet the First Baptist team in what should be the feature game on the card. The Hearts have such well known stars as Frank Viggiano, Vinnie Gallagher, Frank Merando and Nickie Gennock in the lineup and they will make it plenty tough for the First Baptist team, although the North street church boys will have the great Jack Lewellyn, Nickie Ross, C. Wallace, Arch Ridley, Russ Battley in the lineup.

One Game Saturday

Saturday night the St. Michaels team, champions last year, will clash with the First Christians. Babovsky and Charles Dluganski will have their strongest possible lineup ready for the Christians "Shimmy" Balla, Walter Chernyavsky, the Slosernicks and Pastirik make up a fast machine. The First Christians will feature Paulie Morrison, former Union high star; Art Alexander, Don Lannigan and others. The Mikes will have a tough battle on their hands.

Strasbaugh played a bangup game at center, and held Johns scoreless. It was a nip and tuck game in every period, with the graduates winning through experience over the Coach Bill Wallace combination.

Joe Louis Is Hard At Work

(International News Service)

POMPTON LAKES, N. J. Dec. 6—The best tip off on how Joe Louis regards next Friday night's battle with Paulino Uzcudun in Madison Square Garden can be gained at the Brown Bomber's camp.

Shufflin' Joe checked into Dr. Joseph's Bier's camp here last Saturday, and Sunday launched himself on his training campaign.

Every morning has found him hitting the roads for six brisk miles and every afternoon has found him in the indoor gymnasium swapping punches for five, six or seven rounds with his sparmates.

There hasn't been a "day off" in the Bomber's schedule to date.

Texas Christian Favored To Win In Coast Battle

Horned Frogs Of Texas Will Meet Santa Clara Saturday

By HAROLD HEROUX
International News Service Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6—The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian arrived here today for their intersectional game with Santa Clara tomorrow and found themselves highly favored to win. The invaders are a 2 to 1 choice.

The Texans, headed by the great forward passer, "Slingin' Sammy" Baugh, and the All-American center Darrell Lester, are picked to win by seven points.

Lots Of Money

Lone Star State gridiron enthusiasm followed the Horned Frogs. In fact, southwest fans brought so much Texas money with them that odds on the Stanford-Southern Methodist Pasadena Rose Bowl classic for New Year's Day took on a new complexion.

Shortly after arrival of the Texas crowd, Southern Methodist became a 10-8 favorite over Stanford with little Stanford money in sight. A few hours ago the Rose Bowl tilt was listed at local betting commission houses as "even money."

The Horned Frogs nosed out of the Pasadena invitation by Southern Methodist last Saturday, were happy about their selection to play in the "Sugar Bowl" at New Orleans against Louisiana State. The Texans a true betting crowd, offered even money they lick L. S. U.

WILL PRACTICE SATURDAY

The Shenango high school junior high basketball team will practice Saturday afternoon at Shenango high. The team will be coached by Frank Nocera, faculty member, formerly of Slippery Rock. Games are being arranged with various junior high teams in the city and county.

Strange Story Behind "Man Without Country" Told By Surviving Son Of Author

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON.—The transition of Edward Everett Hale's "A Man Without a Country" from an obscure political propaganda tract to an American literary classic extolling the glory of patriotism was recounted today by Arthur Hale, aged and white-bearded son of the author.

Mr. Hale, a Harvard classmate of Theodore Roosevelt, and who despite his years serves as the head of a large trade association, probed into time-shrouded years to recall the course of his father's work.

"The critics of the day thought little of it," he narrated. "Even Mark Twain said my father had written better things."

The famous story of the youthful officer who died in exile after renouncing his native land, read by millions throughout the world, was written in 1863.

"That year was one of the darkest hours in our history," said Mr. Hale. "The North and South were locked in ravaging conflict. President Abraham Lincoln's reelection was uncertain, adding to the turmoil of our national affairs."

At this time, Mr. Hale explained, his father was minister of the South Congregational Church in Boston. A former Whig, the elder Hale became a Lincodn supporter when that political order was supplemented by the present Republican party.

"As a Whig, my father proposed slavery although he was not an Abolitionist," he continued. "He derived an inherent love for liberty from my grandfather who was Nathan Hale's nephew."

Convinced the nation's salvation could be achieved only by continuing President Lincoln's tenure in the White House, Rev. Hale worked actively to that end.

"In 1863 Clement L. Vallandigham sought the governorship of Ohio," Mr. Hale asserted. "This man opposed Lincoln's policies and his election might have placed Lincoln's reelection in jeopardy."

Accordingly, Rev. Hale hurriedly wrote "A Man Without a Country" which contained a bitter arraignment of such noted Southern leaders as Confederate President Jefferson Davis and General Beauregard.

As Mr. Hale recollected, more than half the story was written in a few hours to insure its publication in the October issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

"My father was anxious that it appear just before the election day and that it would do its part to bring about Vallandigham's defeat," he said. "For some reason, however, it failed to be included in the October issue and was published later. Vallandigham lost the election anyway."

Although the story received widespread attention at the time, the Rev. Hale did not consider it an outstanding literary effort.

"Not until 25 years later when a new addition of the story was to be published did he realize its significance in American letters," Mr. Hale added. "Together we went over the original version and made numerous revisions."

Because the animosity between the North and South had subsided, the names of Davis, Beauregard and others mentioned in the original draft were eliminated.

Stock Market Tone Steadier

Irregularity Persists In Number Of Leading Industrial Groups

RAILS ABSORB PROFIT-TAKING

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The stock market developed a steadier tone today but yesterday's irregularity persisted in a number of leading groups, particularly rails, steels and motors.

There was pronounced strength in other sections of the list. Utilities were in persistent demand, responding to the better feeling on the group in a number of speculative circles. Consolidated Gas was active.

Metals were again heavily bought, particularly Anaconda and International Nickel. Cerro De Pasco advanced more than a point to a new high. Oils maintained a firm tone, propped by rumors of an imminent advance in Mid-Continent crude prices.

Trading in the sluggish motor section was enlivened by enormous dealings in Packard at rising prices. One string alone involved 27,000 shares. Accessories were quiet.

Electric Boat was strong in the specialties, rising a point to a new high. A. O. Smith continued its climb, adding five points more on top of the wide advances of the last two days.

Rails were forced to absorb further heavy profit-taking but there were strong spots in D. & H., up two points and unusually active, and Great Northern. Steels were irregular from the start, as were industrials. American Telephone approached its high for the year with a point rise.

Turnover was large with frequent flurries of activity. Mack led truck stocks up again while the liquor list showed a firm tone.

Cotton and grains were steady while bonds were irregularly higher. A buoyant tone in gold currencies was outstanding in foreign exchanges.

A number of ordinances were passed on record reading at this time. An ordinance of the Ellwood Foundry Company vacating an alley near their plant for the purpose of expansion was passed on second reading. The company has provided for another alley to replace this one.

An ordinance regulating health, sanitation, and closing hours of Ellwood City barbers was referred to the Board of Health for a recommendation.

J. Nelson Runyan and Mr. Shearer represented the local Chamber of Commerce at the meeting and requested Council to pass an ordinance that will prohibit peddlers from coming into the city. A form of this ordinance is in the hands of Council now. The matter was referred to Borough Solicitor J. W. Humphrey who will make a recommendation at the next meeting. Councilman J. E. Powell, who presided as chairman on the occasion in the absence of President Alex Main, stated that it would be a wonderful thing if such an ordinance could be passed. He behooved that fact that so many out-of-town peddlers are being patronized by local people. He especially cited the numerous bakery trucks coming into the city. He blamed much of this condition to the inactivity of the Chamber of Commerce.

Tax collection reports were received at this time. In 1932 taxes $139.53 were collected by E. B. Moyer; Mervin Cunningham collected $239.75 in 1933 taxes; for 1934 T. A. E. McConahy collected $548.28; for 1935 year $992.28. Secretary Moyer announced the list of 1932 unpaid taxes by wards. The total was $8,-408.50. It was moved that this be turned over to the solicitor for filing.

Four fires were reported for the month of November of which two h ad no damage. One had $350 damage and another $25. A recommendation of the fire and water committee to permit Fire Chief H. T. Plante and Lowell W. Monroe, borough manager, supervise the test of a trans-pumper at a cost of $25 before it is accepted, was accepted by council.

The monthly report of the police department showed that there were 10 arrests, of which two were discharged, one fined, and six forfeited. Total fines and forfeits were $44.

The police committee was instructed by council to see that the key to the jail is left with the desk sergeant in case of an emergency.

There were 22 cases of chickenpox, six of scarlet fever, one of measles, and one of pneumonia for the past month, according to the regular report of the health committee.
